Nitassinan Inuit Struggle:

All Our Relations Winona LaDuke, 2017-01-15 How Native American history can guide us today Presents strong voices of old old cultures bravely trying to make sense of an Earth in chaos Whole Earth Written by a former Green Party vice presidential candidate who was once listed among America's fifty most promising leaders under forty by Time magazine this thoughtful in depth account of Native struggles against environmental and cultural degradation features chapters on the Seminoles the Anishinaabeg the Innu the Northern Cheyenne and the Mohawks among others Filled with inspiring testimonies of struggles for survival each page of this volume speaks forcefully for self determination and community Moving and often beautiful prose Ralph Nader Thoroughly researched and convincingly written Choice Power Struggles Thibault Martin, Steven M. Hoffman, 2011-03-10 Power Struggles Hydro Development and First Nations in Manitoba and Quebec examines the evolution of new agreements between First Nations and Inuit and the hydro corporations in Quebec and Manitoba including the Wuskwatim Dam Project Paix des Braves and the Great Whale Project In the 1970s both provinces signed so called modern treaties with First Nations for the development of large hydro projects in Aboriginal territories In recent times however the two provinces have diverged in their implementation and public opinion of these agreements has ranged from celebratory to outrage Power Struggles brings together perspectives on these issues from both scholars and activists In debating the relative merits and limits of these agreements they raise a crucial question Is Canada on the eve of a new relationship with First Nations or do the same colonial attitudes that have long characterized Canadian Aboriginal relations still prevail Native Canadian Geographical Names Canadian Permanent Committee on Geographical Names, 1995 Native peoples Nitassinan Marie Wadden, 2001-08-01 Inuit Studies , 1998 Battle Grounds P. Whitney Lackenbauer, 2011-11-01 Base closures use of airspace for weapons testing and low level flying environmental awareness and Aboriginal land claims have focused attention in recent years on the use of Native lands for military training But is the military's interest in Aboriginal lands new Battle Grounds analyzes a century of government Aboriginal interaction and negotiation to explore how the Canadian military came to use Aboriginal lands for training It examines what the process reveals about the larger and evolving relationship between governments and Aboriginal communities and how increasing Aboriginal assertiveness and activism have affected the issue European Review of Native American Studies , 1997 Aboriginal Geographical Names of Canada Albertina Pianarosa, Canadian Permanent Committee on Geographical Names, Geomatics Canada, 1997 Native geographical names have a very special place in the toponymy of Canada This specialized toponymic bibliography is the first of its kind in Canada to be developed from a data base covering the whole country Of particular assistance to users are the annotations which accompany nearly all the 1240 entries In addition to over 1000 records on Native Canadian toponymy have also been included for comparison purposes some records on Native toponymy in other countries The Learning Circle, Five Voices of Aboriginal Youth in Canada H. A. McCue, 2007 Five

Voices of Aboriginal Youth in Canada is the product of a series of 15 interviews from five different Aboriginal communities across Canada three youth in each community The interviews conducted by a team from McGill University were tape recorded and then synthesized to produce five narratives each drawing accurately from the three youth responses to the interview questions in that community As an interdisciplinary student centred educational unit this document is designed to enhance the understanding of non Aboriginal students regarding issues and realities facing First Nations and Inuit youth today Document Canadian Women's Issues Ruth Roach Pierson, Marjorie Griffin Cohen, Paula Bourne, Philinda Masters, 1993-01-01 Preface Acknowledgements 1 The Canadian Women s Movement Documents Marjorie Griffen Cohen 2 The Politics of the Body Documents Ruth Roach Pierson 3 The Mainstream Women s Movement and the Politics of Difference Documents Ruth Roach Pierson 4 Social Policy and Social Services Documents Marjorie Griffen Cohen 5 Women Law and the Justice System Documents Paula Bourne 6 Women Culture and Communications Philinda Masters Permissions Index

Bringing Back the Past Archaeological Survey of Canada, 1998 This book is the first to document institutions involved in archaeology the history of archaeology in various regions of Canada and recent developments in archaeology such as the archaeological consulting industry and the involvement of Aboriginal peoples in their own archaeology The Politics of Race in Canada Augie Fleras, Maria Wallis, 2009 This engaging new anthology brings together important selections that have informed debates and generated controversies about race and ethnicity from the nineteenth century onwards Using an interdisciplinary approach the collection demonstrates and analyzes a transition from Canada s early focus on ethnicity to the current proliferation of sophisticated analyses of race as a concept Resistances to traditional thinking about race and ethnicity by academics and activist communities are also discussed The text demonstrates that despite claims of race neutrality as a preferred ideal Canada is actually a racialized society race remains a key variable in influencing people s identities experiences and outcomes Alternative Press Index ,1996 Panoscope ,1989 Canadian Books in Print ,2001 Applied Anthropology in Canada Edward J. Hedican, 2008-07-30 Anthropologists are often reluctant to present their work relating to matters of a broad social context to the wider public even though many have much to say about a range of contemporary issues In this second edition of a classic work in the field Edward J Hedican takes stock of Anthropology s research on current indigenous affairs and offers an up to date assessment of Aboriginal issues in Canada from the perspective of applied Anthropology In his central thesis Hedican underlines Anthropology s opportunity to make a significant impact on the way Aboriginal issues are studied perceived and interpreted in Canada He contends that anthropologists must quit lingering on the periphery of debates concerning land claims and race relations and become more actively committed to the public good His study ranges over such challenging topics as advocacy roles in Aboriginal studies the ethics of applied research policy issues in community development the political context of the self government debate and the dilemma of Aboriginal status and identity in Canada Applied Anthropology in Canada is an impassioned call for a revitalized Anthropology one more directly attuned to the practical problems faced by First Nations peoples Hedican's focus on Aboriginal issues gives his work a strong contemporary relevance that bridges the gap between scholarly and public spheres Labrador Winter Eleanor Burke Leacock, Nan A. Rothschild, 1994 American Indian Review, 1996 Drug Use and Cultural Contexts 'beyond the West' Ross Coomber, Nigel South, 2004 Considerable research policy and media attention has focused recently on drug use in Britain wider Europe the US and other advanced western societies such as Australia and Canada However the place of drugs in other cultural contexts has received far less attention Little is known about the use of drugs in non western societies and this lack of comparative knowledge hinders a broader understanding of drug use the way problems are attached to it and the nature of inappropriately applied social and regulatory policies This book examines drug use including alcohol in different cultural contexts showing how the claim of tradition can persist even while the impetus toward change is pervasive In some cases change is strongly resisted in others its effects are profound and potentially highly destructive In a world of globalization western investment and leisure tourism can combine with the profiteering of international drug trafficking to transform traditional patterns of intoxicant use in a world of post colonialism the legacies of past impositions are still causing tragedies and in a world of western led drug control policies unproblematic cultural incorporation of drug use into everyday life and sacred ritual is threatened by remote and ill informed politicians and bureaucracies This book will be of interest to academics students and receptive policy audiences interested in understanding drugs and the issues raised by their use in unfamiliar contexts Full Circle John Steckley, Bryan David Cummins, 2001 This book examines both traditional and contemporary aboriginal societies in Canada reflecting the diversity of First Nation's voices Through discussions of aboriginal languages oral tradition writers and individuals the content touches on several issues such as colonialism education health justice and social action
