and prospective future while also comparing us with the animal world and tackling the important social and environmental problems of the present Having focused on hegemony theory in his doctoral research Marc uses his poetry to try and break through the cultural norms and accepted truths of the modern monotheistic world to highlight alternative realities that could possibly improve conditions for plant animal and human life Marc uses the two sides of the Folding Mirror poem to show at least two sides of arguments and issues with the folding line in the middle either connecting or dividing the two halves There is also time for beauty and comedy amongst the digging and depression and some poems and reflections provide colourful light heartedness to lift the mood Several of the poems posted as reflections were written while Marc undertook a 100 mile trek to view Everest in the Nepalese Himalayas It is hoped that as well as entertaining the reader the poems and thoughts will support the preservation of life and nature and improve human understanding of itself and the world      Black Mirror Roger Gilbert-Lecomte,1991 Poetry Bilingual edition translated from the French by David Rattray Roger Gilbert Lecomte 1907 1943 is considered one of the eminent poets of the Surrealist period The visionary sardonic and often outrageous poems in this bilingual edition represent the first presentation of his work in English With Rene Daumal he was the founder of the literary movement and magazine Le Grand Jeu the essence of which he defined as the impersonal instant of eternity in emptiness The glimpse of eternity in the void writes Rattray in the Introduction was to send Daumal to Hinduism the study of Yoga philosophy and Sanskrit It sent Lecomte on an exploration of what he called a metaphysics of absence Rattray a poet acclaimed for his translations of Artaud keeps intact the power and originality of Gilbert Lecomte s work      Self-Portrait in a Door-Length Mirror Stephen Gibson,2017-01-15 Winner of the 2017 Miller Williams Poetry Prize edited by Billy Collins Shows this exceptional poet at his rhyming best Billy Collins Self Portrait in a Door Length Mirror presents the mirror that reflects not always what is but what is desired or not desired In the opening poem the speaker Diane Arbus looks at her very early pregnant self and asks Why would I bring you into this world This book answers that question or tries to the world is what it is as we try to live as our best selves in that world But that knowledge of the world is hard and has consequences and not in the abstract as Gibson s poetry dynamically shows Employing new formalism Self Portrait in a Door Length Mirror examines historical familial and personal pasts as those pasts continue into the present reminding us as Faulkner wrote The past is never dead It s not even past      Mirror Poems Steven L. memorable you've ever experienced     The Pocket Mirror Janet Frame, 1967     The Daily Mirror David Lehman, 2000-01-04 For The Daily Mirror Lehman has selected the best of these daily poems Each tied to a specific occasion or situation and telescoped two years into one Spontaneous and immediate but always finely crafted and spiced with Lehman's signature irony and wit the poems are akin to journal entries charting the passing of time the deaths of great men and women the news of the day Jazz Sinatra the weather love poetry and poets movies and New York City are among their recurring themes     The Night Mirror John Hollander, 1971 The poetry of John Hollander emerges in The night mirror as one of the wholly necessary voices of its generation The attentive reader might sense until now that the whole man was larger than the poet that the imagelessness of deep truth afflicted the poet himself with a despair at finding his full voice In The night mirror that voice is not wanting from page 4 of cover     Self-portrait in a Convex Mirror John Ashbery, 1977

Say/mirror JP Howard, 2016 2016 Lambda Literary Award for Lesbian Poetry Finalist JP Howard's debut collection SAY MIRROR is a dialogue of history and memory reflecting on and integrating vintage photographs of her mother Ruth King a fairly well known African American runway model in Harlem during the 1940's and 1950's with snapshots from the poet's own childhood This manuscript began to emerge when Howard gained access to a large collection of her mother's modeling photos as well as some local Harlem magazine and newspaper clippings and was thereby offered a window into her heyday begging comparison to and recollection of a complex motherhood away from the spotlight Here is a project that seeks to use poetry as both memoir and biography alongside the evocative nostalgia of vintage image a map from which Howard has pieced together the bright but uneven path of growing up in the shadow of a model mother The atlas of SAY MIRROR charts the islands of the poet and her mother's overlapping lives unearthing the shared experiences of a single parent and only child coming to terms with each other in the 1970's and 80's a socio historical emotional retelling of the life of a diva through a daughter's eyes with both parent and child learning to navigate the rocky terrain therein JP Howard's collection of poems is a raw reminder of the experience of motherhood and daughterhood Her sharp memories of love and neglect elegance admiration and inadequacy leave a salty sweet taste not soon forgotten Jewelle Gomez Juliet P Howard's porcelain collection of daughter memoirs is enough to break into you like fine China the shadow of her legacy hovering just above diva the tenderness of grief stained just below doll Anastacia Tolbert Praise Juliet Howard for the wonderful ability to bring to life a mother whose beauty seduction and danger challenge the notions of a young girl growing up in her shadow SAY MIRROR manages to capture with sharp detail and lively resonant language the elegance and ambivalence of the poet's mother and her world These poems evoke images of passion and loss pain and joy We must all stand up and applaud the poem pushing her way to the surface her shape on the page as she unfolds Pamela L Laskin JP Howard stands out both for her fine poetry and for her passionate unrelenting involvement with and on behalf of lesbians of color all lesbians and the LGBTQ literary community She reverently celebrates our forebears A poet a teacher and a curator Ms Howard has shown an ongoing commitment to nurturing our writers and to writing and publishing from her heart Lambda Literary Award judges Reginald Harris and Lee Lynch to mourn to protest to wish for peace and to fight for justice an OS re conversation with JP Howard
