

A dramatic aerial photograph of a Category 5 hurricane, likely Hurricane Dorian, as it makes landfall. The storm's eye is a bright, featureless white circle in the center of a massive, swirling eye wall. The eye wall is composed of dense, white, and grey clouds, which transition into darker, more turbulent clouds as they move away from the eye. The surrounding ocean is a deep, dark blue, with white and grey foam visible where the storm's winds are breaking on the surface. The horizon is visible in the distance, showing a line where the dark ocean meets a lighter sky.

Natural Wonders And Disasters:

Natural Wonders and Disasters Billy Goodman,1991 Introduces the world of geology by explaining why natural disasters and wonders happen Natural Disasters Lee Allyn Davis,2010-06-23 Praise for the previous edition The author's straightforward informative writing style makes this book easily readable by secondary school and college students

BooklistFrom the Black Plague that spread across Europe The Experience of Disaster in Early Modern English Literature

Sophie Chiari,2022-04-27 This book addresses the concept of disaster through a variety of literary texts dating back to the early modern period While Shakespeare's age which was an era of colonisation certainly marked a turning point in men and women's relations with nature the present times seem to announce the advent of environmental justice in spite of the massive ecological destructions that have contributed to reshape our planet Between then and now a whole history of climatic disasters and of their artistic depictions needs to be traced The literary representations of eco catastrophes in particular have consistently fashioned the English identity and led to the progress of science and the advancement of learning They have also obliged us to adapt recycle and innovate How could the destructive process entailed by ecological disasters be represented on the page and thereby transformed into a creative process encouraging meditation preservation and resilience in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries To this question this book offers nuanced contextualised and perceptive answers Divided into three main sections Extreme Conditions Tempestuous Skies and Biblical Calamities it deals with the major environmental issues of our time through the prism of early modern culture and literature

Walking with God Charlie Yang,2022-10-27 The desert like an uninvited guest often arrives without notice It visits us apropos of nothing It comes in all shapes and sizes and shakes our souls to the deep In the desert we fear panic cry grumble and groan In the desert we quest and quest ponder and pray We become thinkers wrestling with God's silence and inaction A new orientation a new direction for life begins with the right questions It is triggered by questioning who we are what we are called for different forms of the question Where are you now In the journey after Mount Horeb we are changed walking with a new heart and a new vision like Jacob He was crippled but blessed through his wrestle with God in the Jabbok River When Elijah left Mount Horeb for the place of life where he had been walking nothing surrounding him had changed but everything was changed because the call was renewed and he himself was changed He with a new orientation of life started walking on the same old road From the book Walking with God

Narratives of a New Order

Elizabeth Freeman,2002 The origins of the Cistercian monastic order are currently under intense scrutiny and revision as scholars identify how the written word was used to invent a unified corporate identity Here Elizabeth Freeman examines the classic genre for inventing a past the history chronicle and annal and argues that historical narratives of the English Cistercians helped define the characteristics of both the new Cistercian monastic order and also the new orders of twelfth and thirteenth century England She shows how Aelred of Rievaulx s Relatio de standardo and Genealogia regum Anglorum articulated new senses of Englishness and demonstrates through attention to library holdings that this focus on national self definition continued throughout the twelfth century The Fundacio abbathie de Kyrkestall shifts focus to local history and exploits Cistercian tropes of land use in order to resolve the communal insecurity that characterised the Cistercians in around 1200 The Narratione de fundatione Fontanis monasterii features another method of reconciling the nostalgic quest for continuity with the intellectual recognition of change it separates historical fact from meaning and imbues events with rich allegorical significance Finally Ralph of Coggeshall s Chronicon Anglicanum indicates the multiple strategies Cistercian historians employed in order to turn the disparate and contradictory events of the past into a comprehensible and meaningful narrative
