Writing the Environment in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Steven Petersheim,Madison Jones

IV,2015-09-17 The nineteenth century roots of environmental writing in American literature are often mentioned in passing and sometimes studied piece by piece Writing the Environment in Nineteenth Century American Literature The Ecological Awareness of Early Scribes of Nature brings together numerous explorations of environmentally aware writing across the genres of nineteenth century literature Like Lawrence Buell the authors of this collection find Thoreau s writing a touchstone of nineteenth century environmental writing particularly focusing on Thoreau s claim that humans may function as scribes of nature However these studies of Thoreau s antecedents contemporaries and successors also reveal a range of other writers in the nineteenth century whose literary treatments of nature are often more environmentally attuned than most readers have noticed. The writers whose works are studied in this collection include canonical and forgotten writers men and women early nineteenth century and late nineteenth century authors pioneers and conservationists. They drew attention to the conflicted relationships between humans and the American continent as experienced by Native Americans and European Americans. Taken together these essays offer a fresh perspective on the roots of environmental literature in nineteenth century American nonfiction fiction and poetry as well as in multi genre compositions such as the travel writings of Margaret Fuller. Bringing largely forgotten voices such as John Godman alongside canonical voices such as Nathaniel Hawthorne Herman Melville Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson the authors whose writings are studied in this collection produced a diverse tapestry of nascent American environmental writing in the nineteenth century. From early nineteenth century writers such as poet Philip Freneau and novelist Charles Brockden Brown to later nineteenth century conservationists such as John James Audubon and John Muir. Scribes of Nature shows the development of an environmental consciousness and a growing conservationist ethos in American literature. Given their often surprisingly healthy respect for the natural environment these nineteenth century writers offer us much to consider in an age of environmental crisis. The complexities of the supposed nature culture divide still work into our lives today as economic and environmental issues are often seen at loggerheads when they ought to be seen as part of the same conversation of what it means to live healthy lives and to pass on a healthy world to those who follow us in a world where human activity is becoming increasingly threatening to the health of our planet.

Jungian Archetypes in 20th Century Women's Fiction Lorelei Cederstrom, 2002 With this the beginning of the new millennium and in the aftermath of the many hundred best lists of the outstanding contributions to culture in the past century Dr Cederstrom was struck with the difference between such lists as they would have been written at the turn of the century and those written of late. It is evident that best books like the literary canon itself has been forced to recognize women's achievements.

Whitaker's Book List, 1987     Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature Bron Taylor, 2008-06-10 The Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature originally published in 2005 is a landmark work in the burgeoning field of religion and nature. It covers a vast and interdisciplinary range of material from thinkers to religious traditions and beyond with clarity and style. Cross-currents of Jungian Thought Donald R. Dyer, 1991     The Functioning Transcendent Ann Belford Ulanov, 1996 The Transcendent is a reality that functions in all our lives all the time whether you call it God the unknown or the holy. It is not some obscure out of reach Other available only to those with specialized knowledge or a phenomenon spoken about only in a church temple or mosque. The Transcendent is both beyond us yet functioning within each of us. It is present in our exchanges with others yet nearer to us than our own.

heartbeat In our daily lives the Transcendent is often experienced addressing us through or compulsions perversions and ordinary struggles We find it touching us through our most shameful problems and bidding us to realize our most hidden promise Jungian analyst Ann Ulanov shows us how the Transcendent appears in her clinical work how to work with it in dreams and symptoms and how it informs encounters between analyst and analysand She demonstrates the spiritual aspect of analysis in her case observations dealing with fatness and the female masochistic suffering parental relationships follow up treatment in patient therapist sex and the resolution of suicidal temptations Folktales as Therapy Verena Kast,1995 Renowned Jungian psychoanalyst and best selling author Verena Kast examines the complexity of folktales relates them to our lives and discusses how they may be used in and as therapy Recording for the Blind & Dyslexic, ...

Catalog of Books ,1996 War, Peace, and Human Nature Douglas P. Fry,2015-02 The chapters in this book posit that humans clearly have the capacity to make war but since war is absent in some cultures it cannot be viewed as a human universal And counter to frequent presumption the actual archaeological record reveals the recent emergence of war It does not typify the ancestral type of human society the nomadic forager band and contrary to widespread assumptions there is little support for the idea that war is ancient or an evolved adaptation Views of human nature as inherently warlike stem not from the facts but from cultural views embedded in Western thinking Amazon com Through Emotions to Maturity Verena Kast,1993 Throughout her work Verena Kast has stressed the importance of emotions If we don t take them seriously and try to avoid them we become psychological cripples unable to unfold our true selves and realize our potential In Through Emotions to Maturity Dr Kast looks at eight classic fairy tales that deal with different aspects of emotions which are difficult to endure anxiety fear and angst In trying to overcome them we may enter into a symbiotic relationship which gives us the illusion of being protected by fusing with a group of people an institution or another person etc we feel safe and sound while at the same time we suffocate psychologically losing our freedoms and the ability to grow The fairy tales discussed in this volume illustrate the danger of psychological symbiosis as an attempt to escape fear Yet they also offer alternatives Originally told for adults fairy tales stem from dreams and contain the wisdom of our unconscious If we decipher their images and symbols they release a knowledge that can be of extreme importance to us Under Kast s authoritative guidance fairy tales thus offer us a way out of the cycle of fear and symbiosis BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Transforming Sexuality Ann Belford Ulanov,Barry Ulanov,1994 For your most intimate and significant relationship with the opposite sex look within yourself to anima and animus the archetypal symbols that define and celebrate the presence of the Feminine in men and the Masculine in women The authors use their broad backgrounds in psychology theology philosophy and the arts to follow the archetypes from clinical practice into a fascinating range of cultural manifestations particularly in the world s great literature from Dante to Pasternak making this book the most wide ranging study to date of these central concepts in Jungian psychology The Woman in the Mirror Claire

Douglas,1990 This is an extensive study of the history and literature of Jungian psychology especially in relation to women s psychology Dr Douglas shows how 20th century psychology viewed the feminine most often as other the shadow realm for man s projections for the uncanny the ambiguous and the immature She recovers heretofore forgotten theory and writers who hold a fairer and more healing view Joy, Inspiration, and Hope Verena Kast,1994 Paperbound Books in Print

,1992 The Abandoned Child Within Kathrin Asper,1993 Lack of self worth is an affliction that has become of increasing concern in all industrialized societies It is the main symptom of what psychiatry calls narcissistic disturbance a phenomenon far more widespread than it was when Freud and Jung developed their concepts of depth psychology The lack of commonly held values has contributed to it but is not its cause In this in depth examination Kathrin Asper a noted psychotherapist and president of the Swiss Society for Analytical Psychology addresses the real cause lack of self worth as a direct consequence of physical or emotional abandonment during childhood The wounded inner child lives on in the adult expressing himself in such symptoms as fear of abandonment lack of feeling grandiosity and depression insufficient awareness of one s own life disproportionate rage and unclear needs However those suffering from a lack of self worth tend to forget the early life incidents that hurt their inner self the child within suffers but is mute To heal the early wounds we have to get in touch with the inner child and make her talk In The Abandoned Child Within Dr Asper shows how this is accomplished Using concrete case histories from her own practice paintings by patients dreams fairy tales and myths she vividly describes the consequences of abandonment and ways to unleash the creative powers of the unconscious which can initiate a healing transformation

Human Nature And Suffering Paul Gilbert,2013-10-23 This volume explores the implications of humans as evolved social animals Gilbert suggests that evolution has given rise to a varied set of social competencies which form the basis of our personal knowledge and understanding These competencies are classified as a Care eliciting b Care giving c Co operating and d Competing Each of these are seen as core schemata or archetypal potentials around which knowledge is built and from which our propensity for suffering flow For example our predisposition to think of ourselves as superior or inferior to others comes from innate competencies which evolve from dominance and social ranking Gilbert shows how primitive competencies become modified by experience and what happens when this modification is unsatisfactory for example leading to preoccupations with fantasy and behaviour which is dominance and power focused Throughout the text Gilbert shows how two psychological systems derived from ethological and experimental work labelled the defense and safety system dominate the unfolding and integration of human mental life In the last chapter these varied themes are brought together to indicate how the social construction of self arises from the organization of knowledge encoded within the four competencies Gilbert highlights how cultural factors may modify and activate many of our more primitive competencies leading not only to pathology proneness but also to behaviours that are collectively survival threatening Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1996
