Navajo Sound System:

The Navajo Sound System J.M. McDonough, 2012-12-06 The Navajo language is spoken by the Navajo people who live in the Navajo Nation located in Arizona and New Mexico in the southwestern United States The Navajo language belongs to the Southern or Apachean branch of the Athabaskan language family Athabaskan languages are closely related by their shared morphological structure these languages have a productive and extensive inflectional morphology The Northern Athabaskan languages are primarily spoken by people indigenous to the sub artic stretches of North America Related Apachean languages are the Athabaskan languages of the Southwest Chiricahua Jicarilla White Mountain and Mescalero Apache While many other languages like English have benefited from decades of research on their sound and speech systems instrumental analyses of indigenous languages are relatively rare There is a great deal of work to do before a chapter on the acoustics of Navajo comparable to the standard acoustic description of English can be produced The kind of detailed phonetic description required for instance to synthesize natural sounding speech or to provide a background for clinical studies in a language is well beyond the scope of a single study but it is necessary to begin this greater work with a fundamental description of the sounds and supra segmental structure of the language In keeping with this the goal of this project is to provide a baseline description of the phonetic structure of Navajo as it is spoken on the Navajo reservation today to provide a foundation for further work on the language

The Sound of Navajo Country Kristina M. Jacobsen, 2017-02-22 In this ethnography of Navajo Din popular music culture Kristina M Jacobsen examines questions of Indigenous identity and performance by focusing on the surprising and vibrant Navajo country music scene Through multiple first person accounts Jacobsen illuminates country music's connections to the Indigenous politics of language and belonging examining through the lens of music both the politics of difference and many internal distinctions Din make among themselves and their fellow Navajo citizens As the second largest tribe in the United States the Navajo have often been portrayed as a singular and monolithic entity Using her experience as a singer lap steel player and Navajo language learner Jacobsen challenges this notion showing the ways Navajos distinguish themselves from one another through musical taste linguistic abilities geographic location physical appearance degree of Navajo or Indian blood and class affiliations By linking cultural anthropology to ethnomusicology linguistic anthropology and critical Indigenous studies Jacobsen shows how Navajo poetics and politics offer important insights into the politics of Indigeneity in Native North America highlighting the complex ways that identities are negotiated in multiple often contradictory spheres

Introduction to the Sound System of Navajo Ken Hale, Lorraine Honie, 1974* Landscape in Language David M. Mark, Andrew G. Turk, Niclas Burenhult, David Stea, 2011-06-09 Landscape is fundamental to human experience Yet until recently the study of landscape has been fragmented among the disciplines This volume focuses on how landscape is represented in language and thought and what this reveals about the relationships of people to place and to land Scientists of various disciplines such as anthropologists geographers information scientists linguists and philosophers address several questions including Are there cross cultural and cross linguistic variations in the delimitation classification and naming of geographic features Can alternative world views and conceptualizations of landscape be used to produce culturally appropriate Geographic Information Systems GIS Topics included ontology of landscape landscape terms and concepts toponyms spiritual aspects of land and landscape terms research methods ethical dimensions of the research and its potential value to indigenous communities involved in this type of research Navajo
