Mini Dragons Fragile Economic Miracles In The Pacific:

Minidragons Steven M. Goldstein, 2019-04-01 The purpose of this book is to introduce one of the most significant international developments of the post World War II era the dramatic socio economic transformation achieved by Hong Kong Singapore South Korea and Taiwan In less than three decades these minidragons of Asia have become major economic players not only in the economy of the Pacific rim but in the global economic system as well In the essays which follow the nature of this transformation is charted its causes are described and some assessment is made of the factors that will shape the future of these fragile economic miracles This volume was originally conceived as a companion to the television series entitled Minidragons an international co production of Maryland Public Television MPT with NHK Japan and Film Australia

Globalizing Taipei Reginald Kwok, 2006-05-11 Taipei s quest to become a global city is the key to its urban development Globalizing Taipei looks at this Asian Dragon a major city in the South China Growth Triangle and a centre for transnational production revealing how the development of this capital has received firm state support but is conditioned by international and domestic politics The book is divided into four parts economic and spatial restructuring state and society realignment social differentiation and cultural reorientation Each analyzes the interaction of international state and local politics in the shaping of the city s urban environment since World War II All contributors to this edited volume are Taiwan scholars presenting critical insiders views Based on each author s specialization and research focus each chapter provides an in depth consideration of one of Taipei s developmental issues generated by globalization Collectively they provide broad insightful and coherent coverage of this crucial time in Taipei s global transmutation Emerging Urbanity Richard

Marshall, 2013-09-05 Discussions on the global economy focus on the hyper mobility of capital the possibility of instantaneous transmission of information and money around the globe the centrality of information outputs to our economic systems and emphasise the neutralisation of geography and of places What is ignored however is that even the most advanced information industries need a material infrastructure of buildings and work processes and considerable agglomeration in order to operate in global markets Further the globalisation of economic activity has brought with it not only a vast dispersal of offices and factories but also a growing importance of central functions to manage and coordinate such worldwide networks of activities The development of global urban projects is one manifestation of this move towards centrality in urban situations These large scale urban projects are the result of governments seeking competitive advantage in the global economy They are critical components of a nation s global infrastructure In the booming economies of the Asia Pacific Rim prior to the Asian Economic Crisis these urban developments were seen as key components of national economic policies In their making they require a conscious effort to arrange material infrastructure and reinforce that there is a role for urban design in this making Emerging Urbanity is an exploration of this role in nine global urban projects in the Asia Pacific Rim Development and Social Change Philip McMichael, 2008 Fourth edition of this international bestseller Adopted by sociology politics development and also geography departments Globalization, Culture and Inequality in Asia Timothy J. Scrase, Todd Joseph Miles Holden, Scott Baum, 2003 Contemplating globalization from a sociological perspective it is without doubt that a major site for social political economic and cultural change in the new millennium lies in the Asian region The chapters in this book seek to describe and analyze a number of key aspects of social and cultural change wrought by globalization in the Asian region The underlying theme in the book is the multi dimensional way in which globalization in the form of ideas practices and technology have introduced social inequalities in specific contexts In particular the book examines how inequality has been reproduced challenged and theorized in Asia by the advent of globalizing culture Written by experienced and established scholars the study provides both theoretical explanation and discussion and analysis of empirical data from a range of social cultural and political economic perspectives and draws on studies from several countries in the region

Minidragons Steven Martin Goldstein, 1991 Tracing the post war development of Hong Kong Singapore South Korea and Taiwan this illustrated volume brings the economic transformation of Asia to life and examines the future prospects for the minidragons Synthesizing Construction and Marketing in Economic Development Sui Pheng Low, 1995 This book concentrates on the link between the construction industry and marketing as a factor in economic development preface

RIS Digest, 1993 Small Countries, Big Lessons Hilton L. Root, 1996 Hilton L Root examines the governance of South Korea Taiwan Singapore Hong Kong Malaysia Indonesia and the Philippines showing how they have constructed reliable institutions Political sovereignty he argues must be distinguished from economic ownership so that government service does not become a path to great personal wealth economic and political activities of regime officials must be kept separate With these fundamentals of governance in place East Asian governments have established a secure foundation for economic property rights The rise of industrial Asia provides important insights into how governments become accountable for the outcome of economic policy The lessons in this book will help scholars and policy makers identify what is transferable from East Asia's rapid economic expansion and link that expansion to the universal themes of social and economic development

China In The Post-utopian Age Christopher J Smith, 2000-06-15 Informed by a geographer's perspective this text portrays a vast country where distance still acts as a major constraint on social interaction where the population is so huge that demand for resources almost always outstrips supply and where regional variations have produced a rich mosaic of human and physical characteristics Business as a Vocation Jinxing Huang, 2002 Wu Ho Su 1919-1986 pioneered business ventures ranging from cloth and synthetic fiber industries to department stores and life insurance This son of a crippled former coolie began as a laborer for a Japanese cloth importing company in the 1930s but eventually became a manager and then an independent entrepreneur Overcoming business obstacles in Chiang Kai shek's Nationalist ruled Taiwan after 1945 Mr Wu painstakingly built Shinkong into Taiwan's sixth largest business enterprise by the 1980s This account of Wu Ho Su's life developed by Mr Wu working directly with Dr Huang Chin shingm of the Academia Sinica one of Taiwan's most distinguished historians is instructive for the lessons it offers about both business practices in East Asia and their interplay with Confucian values The book recounts with graphic examples the changing role of family and other networks in Taiwan s economic miracle and in the region more generally The blend that Mr Wu evidenced of business acumen and concern for Confucianism in turn raises broader questions of the type that scholars and businesspeople have strenuously debated since the time of Max Weber about the compatibility of Confucian norms and modern business practices SEA ,1995

Industrial Policy, Innovation and Economic Growth Poh Kam Wong,C. Y. Ng,2001 This text provides an analysis of the development experience of the five most advanced countries in East Asia Japan Taiwan Korea Singapore and Hong Kong It reviews of the role of the state in industrial development in each of the countries in general as well as in selected industries The Political Economy of a City-state Revisited Linda Low,2006 The book gives an insight of how

Singapore is government made in its growth and development It uses a political economy approach to analyse how a small open city state through market supporting public policies has managed to overcome many economic and socio political odds

The Journal of Asian Studies ,1991 An essential resource for those interested in Asia Recognized as the leading publication in its field It features articles on the history arts social sciences and contemporary issues of East South and Southeast Asia as well as a large book review section Economic Integration on China and Newly Industrializing

Economies Anne Mi-kyeong Suh,1996 Southeast Asia on the Growth Path ,1997 The Politics of Finance in the East Asian Newly Industrializing Countries Michelle Suzanne Lorenzini,2000 The Political Economy of a City-state Linda Low,1998 It uses a political economy approach to analyse how Singapore made its growth and development
