Ministering Angel The Reminiscences Of Harriet A Dada:

Ministering Angel Edmund J. Raus, 2004 Harriet A Dada was one of a number of former army nurses who wrote down their Civil War experience In 1884 her letters provided the basis for her ten part series of articles reproduced here and originally published in the National Tribune newspaper Back cover The Home Voices Speak Louder Than the Drums Wanda Easter Burch, 2017-05-15 Soldier mortals would not survive if they were not blessed with the gift of imagination and the pictures of hope wrote Confederate Private Henry Graves in the trenches outside Petersburg Virginia The second angel of mercy is the night dream Providing fresh perspective on the human side of the Civil War this book explores the dreams and imaginings of those who fought it as recorded in their letters journals and memoirs Sometimes published as poems or songs or printed in newspapers these rarely acknowledged writings reflect the personalities and experiences of their authors Some expressions of fear pain loss homesickness and disappointment are related with grim fatalism some with glimpses of humor

Last to Leave the Field Timothy J. Orr, 2011-02-28 Revealing the mind set of a soldier seared by the horrors of combat even as he kept faith in his cause Last to Leave the Field showcases the private letters of Ambrose Henry Hayward a Massachusetts native who served in the 28th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry Hayward s service which began with his enlistment in the summer of 1861 and ended three years later following his mortal wounding at the Battle of Pine Knob in Georgia took him through a variety of campaigns in both the Eastern and Western theaters of the war He saw action in five states participating in the battles of Antietam Chancellorsville and Gettysburg as well as in the Chattanooga and Atlanta campaigns Through his letters to his parents and siblings we observe the early idealism of the young recruit and then as one friend after another died beside him we witness how the war gradually hardened him Yet despite the increasing brutality of what would become America s costliest conflict Hayward continually reaffirmed his faith in the Union cause reenlisting for service late in 1863 Hayward s correspondence takes us through many of the war s most significant developments including the collapse of slavery and the enforcement of Union policy toward Southern civilians Also revealed are Hayward s feelings about Confederates his assessments of Union political and military leadership and his attitudes toward desertion conscription forced marches drilling fighting bravery cowardice and comradeship Ultimately Hayward s letters reveal the emotions occasionally guarded but more often expressed with striking candor of a soldier who at every battle resolved to be as one comrade described him the first to spring forward and the last to leave the field Timothy J Orr is an assistant professor of military history at Old Dominion University in Norfolk Virginia Civil War Stories, Volume 2 Greg M. Romaneck, Erin Elizabeth Romaneck, 2009-05-01 This two volume social history offers a unique up close and personal look at the lives of everyday soldiers and civilians refugees slaves infantryman longing to return home and the cost of America s bloodiest war R4599HB 27 00 The Heart of Central New York Martin A. Sweeney, 2022-07-18 In The Heart of Central New York Stories of Historic Homer NY Martin A Sweeney makes the past come alive through this collection of articles from his column in The

Homer News Through his writing Sweeney offers readers a glimpse of the excitement he brought to his classrooms by bringing to life the people events manners and mores of the past in a community that is the heart of Central New York State This compilation represents Sweeney s successful efforts as a public historian in using the press as a tool for generating interest in his community s unique historical identity With annotations and a touch of humor this book illustrates for current and emerging public historians how to successfully engage a community in acknowledging their history matters that the fibers of microhistory contribute to the rich tapestry that is county regional state and national history

Women on the Civil War Battlefield Richard Hall,2006 Drawing on a wealth of regimental histories newspaper archives and a host of previously unreported accounts Hall shows that women served in more capacities and in greater number perhaps several thousand than has previously been known They served in the infantry cavalry and artillery and as spies scouts saboteurs smugglers and frontline nurses From all walks of life they followed husbands and lovers into battle often in male disguise that remained undiscovered until they were wounded or gave birth and endured the same hardships and dangers as did their male counterparts

Women Medical Doctors in the United States Before the Civil War Edward C. Atwater,2016 An invaluable reference work chronicling the lives of over 200 women who received medical degrees in the United States before the Civil War This groundbreaking reference work contains brief biographical articles for over two hundred women most of them little known who graduated from schools of medicine in the United States before the Civil War The volume includes an introductory essay examining the social and religious backgrounds of the women graduates as well as their motivations for becoming physicians and their varying degrees of success as practitioners In addition the essay offers information on what physician training and practice were like during the period as well as on the need for reform that provided a setting for women s entry into the profession The biographical entries are supplemented by a chronological table of female medical graduates and a geographical table indicating the places in which they practiced Edward C Atwater is emeritus professor of medicine and the history of medicine at the University of Rochester School of Medicine
