tradition need not be passive insulated or self effacing but can be lived in the modern pluralistic world with passion tolerance and spontaneity The Judaic tradition is often seen as being more concerned with uncritical obedience to law than with individual freedom and responsibility In A Living Covenant Hartman challenges this approach by revealing a Judaism grounded in a covenant a relational framework informed by the metaphor of marital love rather than that of parent child dependency This view of life places the individual firmly within community Hartman shows that the Judaic tradition need not be understood in terms of human passivity and resignation but rather as a vehicle by which human individuality and freedom can be expressed within a relational matrix
