Misreading The African Landscape Society And Ecology In A Forest Savanna Mosaic:

Misreading the African Landscape James Fairhead,Melissa Leach,1996-10-17 An intriguing 1996 study showing how Africans enrich their land while scientists believe they damage it Misreading the African Landscape James Fairhead,Melissa Leach,1999 Misreading the African Landscape ,1996 Landscape, Environment and Technology in Colonial and Postcolonial Africa Toyin Falola,Emily Brownell,2013-03 This volume explores the concepts of environment and landscape in colonial and postcolonial discourse about Africa analysing the points of convergence and conflict between Western notions of pastoral Africa and the introduction of colonial technology scientific ideas and capitalist agriculture The SAGE Handbook of Biogeography Andrew Millington,Mark Blumler,Udo Schickhoff,2011-09-22 A superb resource for understanding the diversity of the modern discipline of biogeography and its history and future especially within geography departments I expect to refer to it often Professor Sally Horn University of Tennessee As you browse through this fine book you will be struck by the diverse topics that biogeographers investigate and the many research methods they use Biogeography is interdisciplinary and a commonly voiced concern is that one biogeographer may not readily understand another s research findings A handbook like this is important for synthesising situating explaining and evaluating a large literature and pointing the reader to informative publications Geographical Research A valuable contribution in both a research and teaching context If you are biologically trained it provides an extensive look into the geographical tradition of biogeography covering some topics that may be less familiar to those with an evolution ecology background Alternatively if you are a geography student researcher or lecturer it will provide a useful reference and will be invaluable to the non biogeographer who suddenly has the teaching of an introductory biogeography course thrust upon them Adam C Algar Frontiers of Biogeography The SAGE Handbook of Biogeography is a manual for scoping the past present and future of biogeography that enable readers to consider where relevant how similar biogeographical issues are tackled by researchers in different schools In line with the concept of all SAGE Handbooks this is a retrospective and prospective overview of biogeography that will Consider the main areas of biogeography researched by geographers Detail a global perspective by incorporating the work of different schools of biogeographers Ecplore the divergent evolution of biogeography as a discipline and consider how this diversity can be harnessed Examine the interdisciplinary debates that biogeographers are contributing to within geography and the biological sciences Aimed at an international audience of research students academics researchers and practitioners in biogeography the text will attract interest from environmental scientists ecologists biologists and geographers alike Outlooks Michael L. McKinney,2004 Outlooks Readings for Environmental Literacy Second Edition is an anthology of recent articles covering diverse viewpoints on environmental issues and solutions The organization is the same sequence used in Environmental Science Systems and Solutions Third Edition written by Michael L McKinney and Robert M Schoch however Outlooks provides tangible examples for the breadth of material students typically encounter when using any environmental science text Time-scales and Environmental Change Thackwray S. Driver,Graham Chapman,1996 Leading experts from a diverse range of disciplines encourage the reader from whatever perspective to think about change and environmental issues in a new light through different time scales Environment, Power, and Justice Graeme Wynn,Jane Carruthers,Nancy J. Jacobs,2022-07-26 Spanning the colonial postcolonial and postapartheid eras these historical and locally specific case studies analyze and engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity This book highlights the ways poor and vulnerable people in South Africa Lesotho and Zimbabwe have mobilized against the structural and political forces that deny them a healthy and sustainable environment Spanning the colonial postcolonial and postapartheid eras these studies engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity Some chapters track the genealogies of contemporary activism while others introduce positions actors and thinkers not previously identified with environmental justice Addressing health economic opportunity agricultural policy and food security the chapters in this book explore a range of issues and ways of thinking about harm to people and their ecologies Because environmental justice is often understood as a contemporary phenomenon framed around North American examples these fresh case studies will enrich both southern African history and global environmental studies Environment Power and Justice expands conceptions of environmental justice and reveals discourses and dynamics that advance both scholarship and social change Contributors Christopher Conz Marc Epprecht Mary Galvin Sarah Ives Admire Mseba Muchaparara Musemwa Matthew A Schnurr Cherryl Walker A Companion to Western Historical Thought Lloyd Kramer,Sarah Maza,2008-04-15 This broad survey introduces readers to the major themes figures traditions and theories in Western historical thought tracing its evolution from biblical times to the present Surveys the evolution of historical thought in the Western World from biblical times to the present day Provides students with the background to contemporary historical debates and approaches Serves as a useful reference for researchers and teachers Includes chapters by 24 leading historians Forestry and Water Conservation in South Africa Brett Bennett,Fred Kruger,2015-11-11 This innovative interdisciplinary study focuses on the history science and policy of tree planting and water conservation in South Africa South Africa's forestry sector has sat often controversially at the crossroads of policy and scientific debates regarding water conservation economic development and biodiversity protection Bennett and Kruger show how debates about the hydrological impact of exotic tree planting in South Africa shaped the development of modern scientific ideas and state policies relating to timber plantations water conservation invasive species control and biodiversity management within South Africa as well as elsewhere in the world Forestry and Water Conservation in South Africa shows how scientific research on the impact of exotic and native vegetation led to the development of a comprehensive national policy for conserving water producing timber and protecting indigenous species from invasive alien plants Policies and laws relating to forests and water began to change in the late 1980s and early 1990s as a result of political and administrative changes within South Africa This book suggests that the country's contemporary policies towards timber plantations guided by the National Water Act of 1998 need to be reconsidered in light of the authors findings Bennett and Kruger also call for more interdisciplinary research and greater emphasis on integrated policies and management plans for forestry invasive alien plants water conservation and biodiversity preservation Biodiversity Conservation and Environmental Change Lindsey Gillson,2015 Discusses how a knowledge of long term change in ecosystems can inform and influence their conservation integrating perspectives from archaeology environmental history and palaeoecology Forests, Trees and Livelihoods ,2003 Working Paper Series ,1999 Africa Today ,2007 Landscapes of Power and Identity Cynthia Radding Murrieta,2005 This comparative frontier history explores the role that natural environments played in shaping the contours of European indigenous encounters and processes of colonization Rethinking Soil and Water Conservation in a Changing Society Valentina Mazzucato,David Niemeijer,2000 The Journal of West African Languages ,2002 Linking Conservation and Poverty Reduction ,2008 First Published in 2008 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informed company Self-governance and Forest Resources Elinor Ostrom,1999 Forest resources share attributes with many other resource systems that make difficult their governance and management in a sustainable efficient and equitable manner Destruction or degradation of forest resources is most likely to occur in open access forests where those involved or external authorities have not established effective governance Conventional theories applied to forest resources presumed that forest users themselves were incapable of organising to overcome the temptations to overharvest Extensive empirical research however has challenged this theory and illustrated the many ways that forest users themselves have devised rules that regulate harvesting patterns so as to ensure the sustainability of forest resources over time This growing consensus about the attributes of users and resources has been applied in the design of policies intended to enhance the participation of local users in the governance and management of common pool resources including many forests Supporting further research especially studies of forests and their users over time is an important foundation for even more effective public policies in the future Environment & Planning ,2009
