Natural History Of The Traditional Quilt:

The Natural History of the Traditional Quilt John Forrest, Deborah Blincoe, 2011-01-19 Traditional quilts serve many purposes over the course of a useful life. Beginning as a beautiful bed covering a quilt may later function as a ground cover at picnics until years of wear relegate it to someone's ragbag for scrap uses. Observing this life cycle led authors John Forrest and Deborah Blincoe to the idea that quilts like living things have a natural history that can be studied scientifically. They explore that natural history through an examination of the taxonomy, morphology, behavior and ecology of quilts in their native environment, the homes of humans who make use, keep and bestow them. The taxonomy proposed by Forrest and Blincoe is rooted in the mechanics of replicating quilts so that it can be used to understand evolutionary and genetic relationships between quilt types. The morphology section anatomizes normal and abnormal physical features of quilts while the section on conception and birth in the life cycle discusses how the underlying processes of replication intersect with environmental factors to produce tangible objects. This methodology is applicable to many kinds of crafts and will be of wide interest to students of folklore, anthropology and art history. Case studies of traditional quilts and their makers in the Catskills and Appalachia add a warm human dimension to the book.

200 drawings of quilt patterns The Quilts of Gee's Bend John Beardsley, Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, 2002 Relates the lives of the women of Gee's Bend, Alabama who for more than 150 years have made quilts reflecting their history and daily lives. Having worked in isolation for generations and continuing to inhabit the remote plantation land their parents once slaved, they have received unexpected attention from the artistic world.

Dimensions of Native America

Jehanne Teilhet-Fisk,Robin Franklin Nigh,1998 From the introduction The collision and reconciliation of meanings and interpretations found in the arts of and by Native Americans is the theme that dominates Dimensions of Native America the Contact Zone Arts change through cultural drift or through a form of acculturation or contact with a foreign culture This exhibition focuses on the Native American arts that changed as a result of contact with Euroamericans through acculturation or assimilation At the same time Euroamerican art also changed through contact with Native American cultures The exhibition is concerned with those acculturated art forms made by both Native Americans and Euroamericans that deliberately converge with and often appropriate each other s cultural properties New concepts of technology in making art new media new subject matter new styles and new or different canons of aesthetics that were absent in a pre contact situation for the Native and non Native are now integrated into the visual and performing arts By focusing on the acculturated arts this exhibition will provide our multi cultural community with a framework for better understanding and appreciating how these arts express fertile new ideas that are integrated into the matrix of tribe culture or society A further objective is to question the accuracy and intentions of the Western artists particularly from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries who appropriated cultural property from the different American Indian tribes making visual constructions of them in alignment with the prevailing objectives of the dominant culture at that time These arts can then be compared with the visual constructions made by contemporary North American Indian and non Indian artists of the late twentieth century whose internationally recognized works address in avant garde terms what it means to construct ethnic identities and cultural experiences that can and have led to misrepresentations of cultural truths and stereotypes This exhibition is the effort of a group of enthusiastic undergraduates and graduates who took in the spring of 1996 my art history course on the arts and cultures of the Southwest the Pueblo and Navajo Din peoples Since Florida State University has identified with and valorized the achievements of the Florida Seminole Tribe the group felt it fitting for FSU students to organize and develop a campus exhibition addressing aspects of past and present American Indian art and culture Working under extraordinary time constraints and limited funding these six undergraduates and eleven graduates never wavered in their commitment to this project All of the students felt the need to see the arts and visit the cultural areas they were writing about HALI. ,2003 Surface Design Journal ,1997
