Ecotheology Kiara Jorgenson, Alan G. Padgett, 2020-09-24 Just as God loves creation so are Christians called to care for it Now amid the accelerating degradation of our global environment that task has taken on greater urgency than ever How should Christians respond to the climate crisis and widespread pollution of earth's shared commons water and air How might Christian communities think about human responsibility to other living creatures In roundtable format Richard Bauckham Cynthia Moe Lobeda Steven Bouma Prediger and John F Haught navigate the layers of what it means for humans to live in right relationship with earth's lifecosystems After each contributor's essay the other three contributors issue a response including points of disagreement and questions thereby modeling for readers productive and respectful dialogue The ecumenical conversations in Ecotheology represent the diverse viewpoints of contributors theological and practical commitments exploring creation care through a variety of frameworks including natural science biblical studies systematic theology and Christian ethics

Creation Care Discipleship Steven Bouma-Prediger, 2023-10-17 Although our planet faces numerous ecological crises including climate change many Christians continue to view their faith as primarily a spiritual matter that has little relationship to the world in which we live But Steven Bouma Prediger contends that protecting and restoring our planet is part and parcel of what it means to be a Christian Making his case from Scripture theology and ethics and including insights from the global church Bouma Prediger explains why Christians must acknowledge their identity as earthkeepers and therefore embrace their calling to serve and protect their home planet and fellow creatures To help readers put an earthkeeping faith into practice he also suggests numerous practical steps that concerned believers can take to care for the planet Bouma Prediger unfolds a biblical vision of earthkeeping and challenges Christians to view care for the earth as an integral part of Christian discipleship

Higher Thought William Rybolt, 2012-01-16 We are prompted by Holy Writ to ponder and think about things that are true honest lovely and virtuous Higher Thought is an attempt by the writer to consider many of life's issues from a wholesome perspective Written in an unusual manner each question is considered in a prologue and then considered again in verse Author William Rybolt's writings range from contemplating higher thought to testing to the Prodigal Son They cover a range of emotions from humorous to serious to challenging Rybolt ignites fresh and productive thoughts in the minds of his readers as he addresses the numerous issues of life in this unique and thought provoking manner A Lasting Tribute We honor those who live in fame Give reverence to those who earn acclaim Celebrate those of great repute And dignify those who have been astute We proudly erect edifices to remember a name Build statues to edify those who share great gain With monuments observe men of great thought Fashion a model for bravery fought However we choose to compliment To recognize one whose life has been spent What ever the mode or the artifact Time will treat carelessly our commemorative act That memento of steel or erection of stone With passing of time will fall on its own Hopelessly destined forgotten forever Remembered by few and perhaps even never

Annie Watson, 2004 Restoring the health of the land is indispensable not only because it is the ground of our sustenance and survival but also land has in itself the inherent worth This book challenges humanity's indulgence and activities of development science and technology and insists for human responsibility and moral duties towards the land the sustaining mother earth which is abused ransacked of its wealth and ignored of its intrinsic value The study attempts to bring together perspectives and values that are important for preserving the rights of the land and proposes the contour of a land ethic
