American Aircraft Development Second World War Legacy William J. Norton, 2021-12-02 This volume focuses on the influence of America's Second World War aviation development and experience subsequent aviation technological advances and world events in shaping American choices in military aircraft and associated weapons development during the few years following the war. It shows how air warfare weapons from the last conflict were carried forward and altered how new systems evolved from these and how the choices fared in the next war Korea. The period was one of remarkable progress in a short span of time via a great many aircraft and weapons programs and associated technological progress. These systems were of immense importance influencing and growing the engineering production and operational capabilities to be exploited for the next generation of weapons that soon followed. Emphasized is the innovative features or new technology and how these contributed to advancing American military aviation influencing the evolution of follow on models or types. Included are military prototype experimental and research aircraft that are equally important in understanding the history of American aircraft development. Combat employment progress and equipment adaptation during the Korean Conflict is then highlighted. Tabulated characteristics are provided of those aircraft that entered production or represented significant technological advances influencing others that follow.

Lockheed XFV-1 VTOL Fighter Steve Ginter, 1996 The photos in this edition are black and white. First published in 1996 the XFV 1 book tells the story of one of two Navy prototypes contracted as vertical take off turboprop fighters capable of operating from LSTs Destroyers cruisers and larger capitol ships. If they had been successful the Navy in time of war would have been able to equip all ships with a point of defence fighter. The other more promising aircraft being tested was the Convair XFY 1 Pogo see Naval Fighters 27. The aircraft were called tail sitters and the XFV 1 sat on outrigger wheels mounted on its cruciform tail. The Lockheed offering never made the transition from vertical take off to level flight and back from level flight to vertical landing. Instead a temporary fixed landing gear was fitted for flight testing and practice transitions were made by famed test pilot Herman Fish Salmon. The project ended on June 16 1955. Includes over 60 b w photos and model reviews.

Lockheed Martin's Skunk Works Jay Miller, 1995 The first and only official history of the worlds most famous advanced aircraft design bureau you've been waiting for. In a major pulling back of the veil of secrecy official histories of such noteworthy products as the U 2 A 12 D 21 SR 71 and F 117 are finally brought to light authentically described by the company and the men who designed and built them. Lists all production quantities serial numbers build numbers significant personalities and technical data.
