Minimal Politics Performativity And Minimalism In Recent American Art:

Minimal Politics Maurice Berger, 1997 This book traces the evolution of the style and thinking of Hans Haacke Mary Kelly Robert Morris Adrian Piper and Yvonne Rainer five artists who explore the complex relationship between form theatricality and ideology Minimal Politics demonstrates how their work evolved from a more minimal formal aesthetic in the 1960s to a more overtly ideological perspective    Performance Art RoseLee Goldberg, 2025-09-23 An updated edition of the pioneering study in the acclaimed World of Art series this classic book surveys a full century of performance art from the Futurist manifesto of 1909 through the second decade of the new millennium The standard reference since its first publication in 1979 Performance Art continues its authoritative chronicling of one of the most important art forms to emerge in modern times Art historian and curator RoseLee Goldberg has updated her magnum opus to reflect the current state of performance in an age where digital and web technologies are becoming increasingly dominant as she shows how a medium once used in sporadic bursts of artistic dissent has become a worldwide phenomenon Performance is now the medium of choice for many creatives entering the global conversation of art and culture As the medium has developed across Asia Africa Europe and the Americas it has become one of the most popular art forms for articulating difference whether dealing with issues of identity politics race or historical background Marina Abramovic Matthew Barney Sanford Biggers Tania Bruguera Patty Chang Rashid Johnson Autumn Knight Pierre Huyghe and Jacolby Satterwhite are among the many new and established artists whose work can now be seen in the context of other innovators in the field from the Futurists and Dadaists to Yves Klein and Laurie Anderson Goldberg explores contemporary artists approaches to politics tradition social engagement and the art world itself while evaluating the changing status of performance This revised edition includes an updated foreword an expanded reading list and a new chapter outlining developments in the second decade of the twenty first century in the fields of dance architecture technology and virtual performance    Embodied Avatars Uri McMillan, 2015-05-15 How black women have personified art expression identity and freedom through performance Winner 2016 William Sanders Scarborough Prize presented by the Modern Language Association for an outstanding scholarly study of African American literature or culture Winner 2016 Barnard Hewitt Award for Outstanding Research in Theatre History presented by the American Society for Theatre Research Winner 2016 Errol Hill Award for outstanding scholarship in African American theater drama and or performance studies presented by the American Society for Theatre Research Tracing a dynamic genealogy of performance from the nineteenth to the twenty first century Uri McMillan contends that black women artists practiced a purposeful self objectification transforming themselves into art objects In doing so these artists raised new ways to ponder the intersections of art performance and black female embodiment McMillan reframes the concept of the avatar in the service of black performance art describing black women performers skillful manipulation of synthetic selves and adroit projection of their performances into other representational mediums A bold rethinking of performance art Embodied Avatars analyzes daring performances of alterity staged by ancient negress Joice Heth and fugitive slave Ellen Craft seminal artists Adrian Piper and Howardena Pindell and contemporary visual and music artists Simone Leigh and Nicki Minaj Fusing performance studies with literary analysis and visual culture studies McMillan offers astute readings of performances staged in theatrical and quotidian locales from freak shows to the streets of 1970s New York in literary texts from artists writings to slave narratives and in visual and digital mediums including engravings photography and video art Throughout McMillan reveals how these performers manipulated the dimensions of objecthood black performance art and avatars in a powerful re scripting of their bodies while enacting artful forms of social misbehavior The Critical Lede interview with Uri McMillan

Maurice Berger,2008 This exhibition and catalog present the first examination of the portrait photographs of Andrea Robbins and Max Becher The artists portraits like their radical landscapes and city scenes are powerfully evocative boldly subverting our expectations of the discipline of portraiture Rather than capturing the visual essence of a sitter they reveal identity to be multifarious transitive and culturally and historically bound Robbins and Becher capture their subjects in ways that transform enhance and accentuate social and cultural meaning They do so with the full complicity and respect of the people they photograph They spend weeks living with each community they document They immerse themselves in the stories of its citizens and history They interview its residents and participate in their rituals and customs They photograph them in various active stages of work play and home life Most important they allow their subjects to represent themselves not only as they would like to be seen but also in ways that illuminate the complexity of their humanity By seeing identity as volatile mutable and contingent these improbable portraits remind us that who we are is as much a matter of choice as destiny
