Minnies Sacrifice Sowing And Reaping Trial And Triumph Three Rediscovered Novels:

Minnie's Sacrifice, Sowing and Reaping, Trial and Triumph Frances Harper, 2000-03-10 Winner of the College Language Association Book Award Frances Smith Foster has rediscovered three novels by Frances E W Harper the best known African American writer of the nineteenth century and author of the classic Iola Leroy Originally serialized in issues of The Christian Recorder between 1868 and 1888 these works address issues of passing social responsibility courtship sexuality and temperance and are the first to have been written specifically for an African American audience Routledge Library Editions: African American Literature Various Authors, 2021-02-25 The volumes in this set originally published between 1995 and 1999 is a collection of works by leading academics on African American Literature The set provides a rigorous examination of the effect of music in the culture of African American society and how it has impacted the literature of African American writers it also looks at the presentation of black women in the writings of both black and white writers throughout the nineteenth and twentieth century Finally the book looks at the experience of black writers living abroad This set will be of particular interest to students and practitioners of literature history and specifically black American history The Foremother Figure in Early Black Women's Literature Jacqueline K. Bryant, 2018-10-29 Originally published in 1999 The Foremother Figure in Early Black Women's Literature looks at how stereotypical foremother figure exists in nineteenth century American literature The book argues that older black woman portrayed in early black women's works differs significantly from the older black women portrayed in early white women's works The foremother figure then emerging in early black women's fiction revises the stereotypical mother figure in early white women's fiction In the context of the mulatta heroine the foremother produces minimal language that through an Afrocentric rhetoric distinguishes her from the stereotypical mother and thus links her peripheral role and unusual behaviour to cultural continuity and radical uplift

Telling Narratives Leslie W. Lewis, 2024-03-18 Telling Narratives analyzes key texts from nineteenth and early twentieth century African American literature to demonstrate how secrets and their many tellings have become slavery's legacy By focusing on the ways secrets are told in texts by Jessie Fauset Charles W Chesnutt Pauline Hopkins Frederick Douglass and others Leslie W Lewis suggests an alternative model to the feminist dichotomy of breaking silence in response to sexual violence This fascinating study also suggests that masculine bias problematically ignores female experience in order to equate slavery with social death In calling attention to the sexual behavior of slave masters in African American literature Lewis highlights its importance to slavery's legacy and offers a new understanding of the origins of self consciousness within African American experience African American Authors, 1745-1945 Emmanuel S. Nelson, 2000-01-30 There has been a dramatic resurgence of interest in early African American writing Since the accidental rediscovery and republication of Harriet Wilson's Our Nig in 1983 the works of dozens of 19th and early 20th century black writers have been recovered and reprinted There is now a significant revival of interest in the Harlem Renaissance of the 1920s and in the last decade alone several major assessments of 18th and 19th century African American literature have been published Early African American literature builds on a strong oral tradition of songs folktales and sermons Slave narratives began to appear during the late 18th and early 19th century and later writers began to engage a variety of themes in diverse genres A central objective of this reference book is to provide a wide ranging introduction to the first 200 years of African American literature Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 78 black writers active between 1745 and 1945 Among these writers are essayists novelists short story writers poets playwrights and autobiographers Each entry is written by an expert contributor and provides a biography a discussion of major works and themes an overview of the author s critical reception and primary and secondary bibliographies The volume concludes with a selected general bibliography

Legacy, 2007 Toward a Common Ground American Studies Association. Annual Meeting, 1995 Feminist Studies, 1994 Defining Moments Kathleen Ann Clark, 2005 Defining Moments African American Commemoration and Political Culture in the South 1863 1913 Popular Literacy John Trimbur, 2001 From the work of medieval spiritualist Margery Kempe and John Foxes Book of Martyrs to nineteenth century American scrapbooks Mexican ex votos and Italian American cookbooks the essays in Popular Literacy examine acts of reading writing and speaking that take place at the margins of official institutionalized literacy The contributors explore these noncanonical unschooled and unauthorized acts in order to explore how people make literacy popular by using whatever means of communication is at hand to their own ends The essays treat a range of topics agents and historical settings and the contributors use a variety of theoretical frameworks and methods from a number of fields ethnography American studies history literary criticism science studies rhetoric and writing studies The chapters examine particularly revealing historical moments and cultural conjunctures where instances of popular literacy take place in uneasy relation to the dominant institutions the church the state the schools the market The contributors show that while the practices of popular literacy are never free from these influences neither are they altogether encapsulated by them Taken as a whole the essays are loosely aligned in a common project to study the ways ordinary and extraordinary readers speakers and writers use literacy to articulate identities and social aspirations to produce alternative forms of cultural knowledge and to cope with the asymmetries of power that regulate cultural life The Essence of Liberty Wilma King, 2006 King uses a wide range of sources to examine the experiences of free black women in both the North and the South from the colonial period through emancipation showing how they became free educated themselves found jobs maintained self esteem and developed social consciousness even participating in the abolitionist movement Provided by publisher The Facts on File Companion to American Poetry Burt Kimmelman, Temple Cone, Randall Huff, 2008 The Facts On File Companion to American Poetry is a new and indispensable encyclopedic guide to American poetry with more than 1 200 entries ranging in length from 500 to 1 500 words Intended for high school and college students this invaluable resource explores the various writers works themes and movements of this intriguing literary genre Volume 1 contains entirely new
