Culture as Capital Slavko Kacunko, 2015-03-02 By following and reproducing the cultural turn the rhetoric of cultural mix and hybridism is disseminated today primarily in its crossing of trade barriers Cultures reduced to their exchange value function as capital an accumulative speculative and ultimately financial affair In some of its media and site un specific manifestations process art which aims to encompass both old and new media art seems to resist this pressure despite nonetheless not being protected from regulations and incorporations In the present collection of his recent essays Slavko Kacunko discusses the process art by crossing the disciplines of art history and comparative media visual and cultural studies As a first approximation several historiographical remarks on closed circuit video installations underline their importance as a core category of process art In the second part the problems of process art seen as a threshold of art history are further examined in another retroanalytical step in which concepts and objects related to mirror frame and immediacy are analyzed as the triple delimitation of visual culture studies In the third part previously outlined manifestations of what is termed the post visual condition are summarized and projected to the coreless core of the emerging art and research related to the coreless beings par excellence the bacteria

Endless Andness Mieke Bal, 2013-11-01 In Endless Andness Mieke Bal pioneers a new understanding of the political potential of abstract art which does not passively yield its meaning to the viewer but creates it anew an art perceived not only through the retina but experienced viscerally In this book the third of her companion volumes on art s political agency Bal explores perception through an intense engagement with the work of Belgian sculptor Ann Veronica Janssens In a series of vividly recalled encounters with Janssens s practice over a number of years Bal presents a new conception of embodied perception art experienced in a body conjured into participation and transformed by the experience From Janssens mist room works and the CorpsNoir sculptures through to the fugitive porous Aerogel Bal traces an art which

eludes the subject object distinction to alter our ideas about the potential of political art in abstract and figurative forms Enticing us simultaneously to lose ourselves and to come home the tenuous materiality of installation art empowers those who live in the permanently lost and migratory condition that characterizes contemporary experience In celebrating and interrogating the work of this prolific and innovative artist Mieke Bal transforms our understanding of non representational art to create a new awareness of perception and performance in the shared spaces of our world Mirror Reflection History Kaia Stonebrook, AI, 2025-02-27 Mirror Reflection History explores the fascinating story of mirrors from ancient reflective surfaces to modern glass creations revealing their profound impact on culture and self perception The book journeys through the science behind increasingly clear reflections the diverse roles mirrors have played across cultures and the philosophical implications of seeing ourselves reflected back It s intriguing to learn how early civilizations meticulously polished volcanic glass to create mirrors while European glassmakers guarded their mirror making techniques as national secrets The book emphasizes that the history of mirrors reflects humanity s evolving self awareness As mirrors became more accessible they fostered new forms of self scrutiny and artistic expression altering how humans interacted with their image and by extension the world The book begins by introducing the physics of reflection and early mirror examples then explores their cultural significance in ancient civilizations and finally examines the scientific breakthroughs that led to modern glass mirrors and their psychological impact
