An Integrated Approach to New Food Product Development Howard R. Moskowitz, I. Sam Saguy, Tim Straus, 2009-06-24 Today's rapidly evolving consumer frequently changes eating habits, tastes and diet. Therefore, to secure financial solvency, food and beverage companies must continually define, develop and market new products. This comprehensive volume integrates all aspects of the physical food and beverage product development cycle and provides perspectives on how to optimize each component of the new product equation in the food industry. It discusses both the technical and the marketing sides, emphasizing the necessity for a combined focus of both the product process and the people market. The inclusion of case studies makes the book suitable for a classroom text or a professional reference.

Handbook of Economic Psychology W.F. Van Raaij, G.M. van Veldhoven, K.E. Wärneryd, 2013-03-09 The idea to publish a Handbook of Economic Psychology came up as a natural consequence of a discussion concerning appropriate reading material for courses in economic psychology. The discussion took place a few years ago in the Department of Economic Psychology at Tilburg University, The Netherlands. It was noted that there was a surprising lack of collections of pertinent readings to say nothing about the lack of textbooks in the English language. So the present editors who had been involved in the discussion decided to start working on a Handbook. The situation has changed quite a lot since then. There are now a number of books internationally available in the English language in economic psychology or behavioral economics. The interest in this field of study is expanding quite impressively. The Journal of Economic Psychology is now 1988 in its ninth volume and many other journals are publishing articles in the field. The application of psychological theories and methods to economic problems or the study of economic experiences and behavior is variously referred to as economic psychology or behavioral economics While in principle we do not want to overdo the differences between the two we have a feeling that economic psychology has a slightly stronger flavor of psychology than behavioral economics which in its turn seems to be closer to economics Psychologists tend to feel more at home in economic psychology while economists seem to favor behavioral economics
