New Individualism:

The New Individualism Anthony Elliott, Prof Charles Lemert, Charles Lemert, 2005-11-14 Corporate networking compulsive consumerism plastic surgery therapeutic tribulations instant identity makeovers and reality TV welcome to life in our increasingly individualized world. In this dazzling book Anthony Elliott and Charles Lemert explore the culture of the new individualism generated by global capitalism and develop a major new perspective on people's emotional experiences of globalization. The New Individualism offers fascinating but disturbing accounts of people struggling to cope with a new individualism reshaping the world today. There is Larry a high tech executive emotionally wrecked by success; there is Ruth a married woman in her late fifties typing real time erotica in cyberspace; there is Norman a recovering drug addict infected with HIV reinventing himself by accepting the deadly worlds for what they are; and Caoimhe and Annie two little girls only beginning to explore the disorientating effects of the new individualism. This book powerfully cuts against the grain of current orthodoxies that view globalization as corrosive of private life. Elliott and Lemert argue that today's worlds are not only risky but deadly. Yet there is hope: the authors contend beyond the complexities. Voted into the 50 Best Management Books For 2006 by The Australian Financial Review.

Deadly Worlds Charles C. Lemert, Anthony Elliott, 2006 Deadly Worlds offers an original analysis of one of the unsolved questions of the current age: what are the emotional costs and possibilities of globalization? Lemert and Elliott challenge the dominant interpretations of the late modern world by delving below the surface of cultural and economic theories to explore theories of the new individualism. Against European ideas that the individual is either a manipulated artifact of mass culture or a reflexive self facing global risks, they pose the possibility that the new worlds are actually deadly. Against the American tradition of viewing the individual as having abandoned her moral center, they suggest the necessity of rediscovered aggression as a proper moral quality. Deadly Worlds is controversial but also plain spoken and intriguing. It dares to rework the case method by telling the stories of real individuals: Kelly struggling to find herself by plastic surgery; Norman responding to a positive HIV status by remaking his community; Larry desperately seeking to control the world's demands by therapy; Phyllis using her natural gift for aggression to heal and build institutions. The life stories root the book's themes in worlds all can recognize while the presentation of the prevailing theories of globalization and its effects expand the reader's social imagination to new possibilities.

Tafarodi, 2013-09-23 What is it like to be a person today To think feel and act as an individual in a time of accelerated social cultural technological and political change This question is inspired by the double meaning of subjectivity as both the first personness of consciousness being a subject of experience and the conditioning of that consciousness within society being subject to power authority or influence The contributors to this volume explore the perils and promise of the self in today's world Their shared aim is to describe where we stand and what is at stake as we move ahead in the twenty first century They do so by interrogating the historical moment as a predicament of the subject Their shared focus is on subjectivity as a dialectic of self and other or individual and society and how the defining tensions of subjectivity are reflected in contemporary forms of individualism identity autonomy social connection and political consciousness capital at times showed significant differences. The individuals depending on the reference group their existing status norms as well as their demographic circumstances signalise the strategy used to a varying degree. The predominant norms in the various reference groups prompt individuals to signalise strategies to promote their status externally to a varying degree. Since status is a relative construct individuals can only raise their status through strategies that they also signalise externally. Based on these findings various clusters were defined that individuals depending on their directly existing capital in the sense of Bourdieu allocate to the specific situation.
