late 1970s marked a turning point leading to a second stage featured by imbalanced integration Through empirical research the book analyses the momentum economic effects and problems of this turn thereby envisaging an upgraded stage marked out by collaborative integration integral to further economic development and a more prosperous society in all respects The title will appeal to scholars and student studying political economy urban rural economic relationships development economics and the Chinese economy Overseas Economic Relations and Statehood in Europe, 1860s-1970s Gerold Krozewski,2023-04-06 Drawing on official archival and published sources this book explores how the formative history of the European nation state was embedded within economic globalization and associated with conceptions of the world overseas With a particular focus on France Germany Italy and Britain this research investigates how overseas relationships shaped state governance The argument departs from conventional histories by linking together the analysis of economic relationships and political cultures examining the ways in which state agency formed in different areas such as national economy building the organization of overseas raw material and food supplies labour migration and national identity Spanning over a century the book discusses the changing role of overseas colonies in European national development Once a means to complete economic liberalization colonies were then envisaged as tools of crisis management before in the mid twentieth century complementarities in imperial colonial economies shifted away from empire This volume covers neglected aspects of the transnational history of European nation states and is an ideal resource for students and researchers interested in the ties between Europe Africa and Asia as well as connections between political economic and social relations and their conceptualizations

THE RESHAPED ECONOMIC RELATIONS BETWEEN RUSSIA AND TURKEY AFTER WESTERN ECONOMIC SANCTIONS Dilan Günes,2019-07-12 Economic sanctions as a foreign policy tool is used by sender countries to change policy or behavior of a target country The economic sanctions are multilevel phenomena that not only affects both sides of the action but also have implications for third parties reshaping the political and economic relations of the sender and target countries with the other states The effects of the economic sanctions imposed by the West on Russia and Turkey have direct implications for the balance of power in the region and globally Therefore this paper aims to examine how did economic sanctions re shape the economic relations between Russia and Turkey In doing so the paper applies explanatory sequential mixed methods First logarithmic regression model was conducted by time series data over the period ranging from 1992 to 2018 The paper confirms that economic sanctions imposed on target countries that already have trade relations increase the bilateral trade between them especially for Turkish case Subsequently content analysis was conducted reviewing annual data starting from 1992 but mostly focusing on 2014 2018 period The analysis shows that because the sender countries are important trade partners in the target countries to counterbalance the effects of economic sanctions target countries choose to diversify their trade According to the results Russia diversified towards Asia and Central Asia while Turkey increased its trade with the EU which is mutual ally of the US and Turkey Excluding the 2015 plane crisis between Russia and Turkey the Western sanctions imposed on both countries increased the bilateral trade between them However these two countries are the first choice of each other when it comes to trade partner diversification United Rowden,2025-03-18 While there have been many books about China s growing economic role in Africa this book explores the much less well known story of India s growing economic role in Africa And like the big debates about China s role in Africa this book similarly asks if India is acting as a helpful development partner in Africa an exploitative new colonizer or if the answer ultimately has to do with the degree of agency exercised by African governments While the book documents the significant increase in Indian aid trade and FDI in Africa in the new millennium it also offers much more It comprehensively looks at theories of economic development the debates about the role of trade and industrial policies in economic development strategies colonial and post colonial literature and controversial features of today s global political economy as the background to study Africa and frames Africa India economic relations in these broad contexts The book reviews the history of India s diplomacy trade and investment in African countries since decolonization with a focus on the increased economic ties of the past two decades The main question examined is about the longterm impact that India s economic relations are having in African economies and if India is helping Africa to successfully develop over time or not The author examines India s economic and strategic interests in the African region and offers a comparative analysis of Africa s trade with India China the European Union and other African nations The book also explores a number of outstanding issues in India Africa relations today such as Africa s role as a source of oil gas and critical minerals needed by India the lifesaving role of Indian generic medicines across the continent the nature of the agricultural development model that India is introducing in Africa and key areas where Indian and African governments are cooperating in the international arena The book offers a critical and in depth look into the partnerships India has developed with African countries and contributes to the debate on economic relations between a more developed emerging market like India and less developed countries A major contribution to the emerging area of South South economics this book part of the Critical Political Economy of South Asia series will be useful for scholars and researchers of economics development economics development studies public policy diplomacy African studies political economy South Asian economics and international politics and trade Studies in Economic
