Making Living Real World Reader:

The Real World Reader James S. Miller, 2015 From academic essays to blogs magazine articles to social media posts newspaper editorials to public service announcements and advertisements to emails The Real World Reader brings together a wide collection of formal writing with an equally diverse array of popular writing from everyday life This innovative rhetorical reader for first year composition courses divides the process of rhetorical analysis into logically sequenced steps that focus on five key concepts purpose audience argument voice and credibility Author James Miller encourages students to use this step by step process in order to identify analyze and master the multiple modes of writing that they will encounter at school work and home Features Uses a rhetorical framework to teach writing rather than examining different modes of writing in isolation and reveals what all forms of writing have in common Introduces rhetorical concepts through a variety of informal and formal writing examples showing students how rhetorical patterns intersect Combines step by step writing instruction with a scaffold of sixty seven diverse readings allowing students to critically write and read four distinct types of selections informal formal and academic selections and sample student essays Connects rhetorical analysis to cultural analysis with content that ranges from debates on multiculturalism to discussions of online privacy and from critiques of modern political campaigning to analyses of modern consumerism Focuses on familiar real world writing demonstrating the important role that writing plays in everyday life

Real-Life Decision-Making Mats Danielson, Love

Ekenberg, 2023-08-08 Have you ever experienced a decision situation that was hard to come to grips with Did you ever feel a need to improve your decision making skills Is this something where you feel that you have not learned enough practical and useful methods In that case you are not alone Even though decision making is both considered and actually is a very important skill in modern work life as well as in private life these skills are not to any reasonable extent taught in schools at any level No wonder many people do indeed feel the need to improve but have a hard time finding out how This book is an attempt to remedy this shortcoming of our educational systems and possibly also of our common partly intuition based decision culture Intuition is not at all bad quite the contrary but it has to co exist with rationality We will show you how Methods for decision making should be of prime concern to any individual or organisation even if the decision processes are not always explicitly or even consciously formulated All kinds of organisations as well as individuals must continuously make decisions of the most varied nature in order to prosper and attain their objectives A large part of the time spent in any organisation not least at management levels is spent gathering processing and compiling information for the purpose of making decisions supported by that information The same interest has hitherto not been shown for individual decision making even though large gains would also be obtained at a personal level if important personal decisions were better deliberated This book aims at changing that and thus attends to both categories of decision makers This book will take you through a journey starting with some history of decision making and analysis and then go through easy to learn ways of structuring decision information and methods for analysing the decision situations beginning with simple decision situations and then moving on to progressively harder ones but never losing sight of the overarching goal that the reader should be able to follow the progression and being able to carry out similar decision analyses in real life situations The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
