Bartlett, Frank V. Chambers, Francis Stapleton Chambers, 1914 The Heart of the Photograph David

Duchemin,2020-03-17 Learn to ask better more helpful questions of your work so that you can create stronger and more powerful photographs Photographers often look at an image one they've either already created or are in the process of making and ask themselves a simple question Is this a good photograph It's an understandable question but it's really not very helpful How are you supposed to answer that What does good even mean Is it the same for everyone What if you were equipped to ask better more constructive questions of your work so that you could think more intentionally and creatively and in doing so bring more specific action and vision to the act of creating photographs What if asking stronger questions allowed you to establish a more effective approach to your image making In The Heart of the Photograph 100 Questions for Making Stronger More Expressive Photographs photographer and author David duChemin helps you learn to ask better questions of your work in order to craft more successful photographs photographs that express and connect photographs that are strong and above all photographs that are truly yours From the big picture questions What do I want this image to accomplish to the more detail oriented questions that help you get there What is the light doing Where do the lines lead What can I do about it David walks you through his thought process so that you can establish your own Along the way he discusses the building blocks from which compelling photographs are made such as gesture balance scale contrast perspective story memory symbolism and much more The Heart of the Photograph is not a theoretical book It is a practical and useful book that equips you to think more intentionally as a photographer and empowers you to ask more helpful questions of you and your work so that you can produce images that are not only better than good but as powerful and authentic as you hope them to be

Landscape Photography

Anne Godfrey, 2022-09-28

How can photography be transformed into an active process of investigation for landscape architecture and environmental design

The second book in Godfrey's series Active Landscape Photography presents engaged photographic methods that turn photography into a rigorous thoughtful endeavor for the research planning and design of landscape places

Photography is the most ubiquitous and important form of representation in these disciplines

Yet photography is not specifically taught as a core skill within these fields

This book creates a starting point for filling this gap

Concepts and working methods from contemporary photography and critical cultural theories are contextualized into situations encountered in the daily practice of landscape architecture and environmental design

These methods can be integrated into practices in academic and professional settings or picked up and self taught by an individual reader Part I Methods presents easily accessible approaches to photography creating a core set of active skills Part II Practices discusses working methods of specific contemporary photographers and extrapolates their practices into common extrapolates their practices into common planning and design situations Contemporary photographers presented include Richard Misrach Dawoud Bey Duane Michals Latoya Ruby Frazier Mark Klett Sophie Calle Joe Deal Robert Adams Naima Green Bernd and Hilla Becher Stephen Shore David Hockney Amy Sherald William Christenberry Jeff Wall and Sohei Nishino Beautifully illustrated in full color with over 150 images by Godfrey her students and contemporary photographers this book provides both clear guidelines for a set of diverse methods as well as a deeper discussion about the implications of making and using photography in environmental design for professionals academics students and researchers Making Photographs Valerie Burton, 1995 Aspiring photographers learn how to put together a family tree with old and new photographs compose a travel journal compile a photomontage and more Cf Our choice 1996 1997 Suburban Life ,1907
