Making Of The Gulf War:

Iraq and the Gulf War F. Gregory Gause, 2001*      Explaining Foreign Policy Steve A. Yetiv, 2011-03-01 Steve A Yetiv has developed an interdisciplinary integrated approach to studying foreign policy decisions which he applies here to understand better how and why the United States went to war in the Persian Gulf in 1991 and 2003 Yetiv s innovative method employs the rational actor cognitive domestic politics groupthink and bureaucratic politics models to explain the foreign policy behavior of governments Drawing on the widest set of primary sources to date including a trove of recently declassified documents and on interviews with key actors he applies these models to illuminate the decision making process in the two Gulf Wars and to develop theoretical notions about foreign policy What Yetiv discovers in addition to empirical evidence about the Persian Gulf and Iraq wars is that no one approach provides the best explanation but when all five are used a fuller and more complete understanding emerges Thoroughly updated with a new preface and a chapter on the 2003 Iraq War Explaining Foreign Policy already widely used in courses will continue to be of interest to students and scholars of foreign policy international relations and related fields      Policy and Opinion in the Gulf War John Mueller, 1994-07 The Persian Gulf crisis may well have been the most extensively polled episode in U S history as President Bush his opponents and even Saddam Hussein appealed to and tried to influence public opinion As well documented as this phenomenon was it remains largely unexplained John Mueller provides an account of the complex relationship between American policy and public opinion during the Gulf crisis Mueller analyzes key issues the actual shallowness of public support for war the effect of public opinion on the media rather than the other way around the use and misuse of polls by policy makers the American popular focus on Hussein s ouster as a central purpose of the War and the War s short lived impact on voting Of particular interest is Mueller s conclusion that Bush succeeded in leading the country to war by increasingly convincing the public that it was inevitable rather than right or wise Throughout Mueller author of War Presidents and Public Opinion an analysis of public opinion during the Korean and Vietnam wars places this analysis of the Gulf crisis in a broad political and military context making comparisons to wars in Panama Vietnam Korea and the Falklands as well as to World War II and even the War of 1812 The book also collects nearly 300 tables charting public opinion through the Gulf crisis making Policy and Opinion in the Gulf War an essential reference for anyone interested in recent American politics foreign policy public opinion and survey research      The Making of the Gulf War H. Rahman, 1997 Kuwait s long standing territorial dispute with Iraq culminating in the 1991 Gulf War should properly be viewed within an extended historical context dating back to the Ottoman period Tracing the origins of this dispute through a detailed chronological account of events Dr Rahman describes how Anglo Ottoman manoeuvres in the 1890s were to have repercussions on Kuwaiti Iraqi relations for generations to come He considers the effect of the collapse of the Ottoman Empire and the subsequent redefinition of many of the boundaries of the Empire s former provinces in the Middle East Mesopotamia now Iraq became a kingdom under British mandate and in 1932

it attained independence      Explaining Foreign Policy Steve A. Yetiv, 2004-03-22 Scholars of international relations tend to prefer one model or another in explaining the foreign policy behavior of governments Steve Yetiv however advocates an approach that applies five familiar models rational actor cognitive domestic politics groupthink and bureaucratic politics Drawing on the widest set of primary sources and interviews with key actors to date he applies each of these models to the 1990 91 Persian Gulf crisis and to the U S decision to go to war with Iraq in 2003 Probing the strengths and shortcomings of each model in explaining how and why the United States decided to proceed with the Persian Gulf War he shows that all models with the exception of the government politics model contribute in some way to our understanding of the event No one model provides the best explanation but when all five are used a fuller and more complete understanding emerges In the case of the Gulf War Yetiv demonstrates the limits of models that presume rational decision making as well as the crucial importance of using various perspectives Drawing partly on the Gulf War case he also develops innovative theories about when groupthink can actually produce a positive outcome and about the conditions under which government politics will likely be avoided He shows that the best explanations for government behavior ultimately integrate empirical insights yielded from both international and domestic theory which scholars have often seen as analytically separate With its use of the Persian Gulf crisis as a teachable case study and coverage of the more recent Iraq war Explaining Foreign Policy will be of interest to students and scholars of foreign policy international relations and related fields      Explaining Foreign Policy

Steven A. Yetiv, 2004 A young family enjoys all the traditions of Chinese New Year      Improving the Presumptive Disability Decision-Making Process for Veterans Institute of Medicine, Board on Military and Veterans Health, Committee on Evaluation of the Presumptive Disability Decision-Making Process for Veterans, 2008-05-15 The United States has long recognized and honored the service and sacrifices of its military and veterans Veterans who have been injured by their service whether their injury appears during service or afterwards are owed appropriate health care and disability compensation For some medical conditions that develop after military service the scientific information needed to connect the health conditions to the circumstances of service may be incomplete When information is incomplete Congress or the Department of Veterans Affairs VA may need to make a presumption of service connection so that a group of veterans can be appropriately compensated The missing information may be about the specific exposures of the veterans or there may be incomplete scientific evidence as to whether an exposure during service causes the health condition of concern For example when the exposures of military personnel in Vietnam to Agent Orange could not be clearly documented a presumption was established that all those who set foot on Vietnam soil were exposed to Agent Orange The Institute of Medicine IOM Committee was charged with reviewing and describing how presumptions have been made in the past and if needed to make recommendations for an improved scientific framework that could be used in the future for determining if a presumption should be made The Committee was asked to consider and describe the processes of all participants in the current presumptive disability decision making process for veterans The Committee was not asked to offer an opinion about past presumptive decisions or to suggest specific future presumptions The Committee heard from a range of groups that figure into this decision making process including past and present staffers from Congress the VA the IOM veterans service organizations and individual veterans The Department of Defense DoD briefed the Committee about its current activities and plans to better track the exposures and health conditions of military personnel The Committee further documented the current process by developing case studies around exposures and health conditions for which presumptions had been made Improving the Presumptive Disability Decision Making Process for Veterans explains recommendations made by the committee general methods by which scientists as well as government and other organizations evaluate scientific evidence in order to determine if a specific exposure causes a health condition

This study examines the foreign policy making process of the Iraqi leadership during the 1990-1991 Second Gulf War It analyzes and explains the sequence of decisions that the Baathist regime in Iraq enacted during the crisis and the conflict that followed its invasion of Kuwait on August 2, 1990 A state-centric framework for the analysis of foreign policy behavior is devised and an investigation is made of the events leading up to the war Iraq and the Second Gulf War provides the scholar the policy maker and the student with a summary of research on the Gulf conflict and on the states of foreign policy analysis at the same time that it pinpoints alternative perspectives A detailed day-to-day chronology of the Gulf war enhances the book's research value as does an extensive bibliography and index

THE TRIUMPH OF IMAGE over reality and reason is the theme of this book New communication technologies have made possible the transportation of images and words in real time to hundreds of millions of people around the world We thought we witnessed the Gulf War as we sat mesmerized by the imagery But the studies from the many countries assembled for this book suggest that it was not the war in the Persian Gulf that we witnessed but rather imagery orchestrated to convey a sense of triumph and thus to achieve results that reality and reason could never have achieved The book offers contributions from thirty-five authors in eighteen countries including short samplings from the media of several regions The authors explore the social economic and political context of media coverage in their countries the domination of one image in most of them and the struggle for alternative perspectives The authors probe the dynamics of image making and pose some challenges for the future as well as provide us with a unique glimpse of how the world outside of the United States as well as many Americans viewed the war in the Persian Gulf and how the dynamics of image making and information control operate Triumph of the Image will be useful to scholars and students in communications and mass media international relations political science cultural studies propaganda censorship and contemporary history as well as to the general public
