Economic and Social History of the World War Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Division of Economics and History, 1928 From Versailles to Pearl Harbor Margaret Lamb, Nicholas Tarling, 2017-03-14 In 1941 the European war became a world war This book tackles that process in its economic political and ideological dimensions Margaret Lamb and Nicholas Tarling explore the significance of the Asian factor and the importance of East Asia in the making of the war in Europe and the transformation of the European war of 1939 into the world war of 1941 This Asian factor has often been neglected but the policies of all the major powers were affected by their world wide interests France had its possessions in North Africa and Asia Nazi Germany chose to become involved in China and to make an agreement with Japan Britain's action in Europe and the Mediterranean were conditioned by its commitments elsewhere in the world and the United States and the Soviet Union were both involved in Europe and Asia In particular the threat that Japan presented to the status quo in East Asia made it difficult for the war in Europe in turn affected the position in East Asia The US built a two ocean navy and encouraged the British to continue their struggle by keeping the resources of South East Asia available and these steps led to a clash with the Japanese Lamb and Tarling's global approach throws valuable new light on the origins of the Second World War
