Wired Together Yvan Prkachin, 2026-01-12 Examines the role of an influential neurological institute in shaping a new interdisciplinary science neuroscience and advancing it worldwide Wired Together explains the rise of neuroscience by tracing the history of the Montreal Neurological Institute MNI and the men and women who transformed it into neuroscience's most innovative and productive research site Opened by neurosurgeon Wilder Penfield in 1934 the MNI pioneered the surgical treatment of epilepsy and transformed the operating theater into a new kind of scientific laboratory for investigating the functions of the brain But more than that the MNI became a crucial site for forming new interdisciplinary practices These involved as Yvan Prkachin puts it wiring together new assemblies of physicians surgeons and scientists into a growing network that made possible the emergence of an interdisciplinary science of the brain Wired Together also traces how the MNI and its network of scientists spread this new interdisciplinary neuroscience to the rest of the world Prkachin uncovers the surprising history of some of the most important neuroscientific organizations discoveries theories and instruments from their beginnings in Montreal through the complex international networks of the post war sciences In doing so he tells the stories of the most crucial and least understood characters from early neuroscience such as Brenda Milner Donald Hebb Herbert Jasper Molly Harrower and David Hubel as well as the surprising origins of scientific practices and ideas like sensory deprivation multiple forms of memory and artificial neural networks A New Field in Mind Frank W.

Stahnisch, 2020-03-12 In recent decades developments in research technologies and therapeutic advances have generated immense public recognition for neuroscience However its origins as a field often linked to partnerships and projects at various brain focused research centres in the United States during the 1960s can be traced much further back in time In A New Field in Mind Frank Stahnisch documents and analyzes the antecedents of the modern neurosciences as an interdisciplinary field Although postwar American research centres such as Francis O Schmitt's Neuroscience Research Program at MIT brought the modern field to prominence Stahnisch reveals the pioneering collaborations in the early brain sciences at centres in Germany Austria and Switzerland in the first half of the twentieth century One of these Heinrich Obersteiner's institute in Vienna began its work in the 1880s Through case studies and collective biographies Stahnisch investigates the evolving relationships between disciplines anatomy neurology psychiatry physiology serology and neurosurgery which created new epistemological and social contexts for brain research He also shows how changing political conditions in Central Europe affected the development of the neurosciences ultimately leading to the expulsion of many physicians and researchers under the Nazi regime and their migration to North America An in depth and innovative study A New Field in Mind tracks the emergence and evolution of neuroscientific research from the late nineteenth century to the postwar period Crimea Is Ours: The Crimean Tatars' Never Ending Struggle - A Short History Melek
