Music and Identity in Twenty-First-Century Monasticism

Amanda J. Haste, 2023-10-20

Twenty first century monastic communities represent unique social environments in which music plays an integral part. This book examines the role of music in Catholic, Anglican, Episcopalian and neo monastic communities in Britain and North America, engaging closely with communities of practice to provide a penetrating insight into the role of music in self care and as a vector for identity construction on both individual and community levels. The author explores the essential role of music in community dynamics, the rationale for using instruments, the implications of both chant based and freestyle composition, gender related differences in musical activity, the role of dance music made visible in community life, the commodification of monastic music, the Singing Nun phenomenon and the role of music in established and emerging neo monastic communities. The result is a comprehensive and compelling study of the agency of music in the construction and expression of personal and community identity.

The last century has seen enormous leaps in the development of digital technologies, and most aspects of modern life have changed significantly with their widespread availability and use. Technology at various scales: supercomputers, corporate networks, desktop and laptop computers, the internet, tablets, mobile phones, and processors that are hidden in everyday devices and are so small you can barely see them with the naked eye, all pervade our world in a major way. Computers and Society: Modern Perspectives is a wide-ranging and comprehensive textbook that critically assesses the global technical achievements in digital technologies and how they are applied in media, education, and learning, medicine, and health, free speech, democracy, and government, and war and peace. Ronald M. Baecker reviews critical ethical issues raised by computers such as digital inclusion, security, safety, privacy, automation, and work, and discusses social, political, and ethical controversies and choices now faced by society. Particular attention is paid to new and exciting developments in artificial intelligence and machine learning, and the issues that have arisen from our complex relationship with AI.
