Machine Discovery Jan Zytkow, 2013-03-09 Human and machine discovery are gradual problem solving processes of searching large problem spaces for incompletely defined goal objects Research on problem solving has usually focused on searching an instance space empirical exploration and a hypothesis space generation of theories In scientific discovery searching must often extend to other spaces as well spaces of possible problems of new or improved scientific instruments of new problem representations of new concepts and others This book focuses especially on the processes for finding new problem representations and new concepts which are relatively new domains for research on discovery Scientific discovery has usually been studied as an activity of individual investigators but these individuals are positioned in a larger social structure of science being linked by the blackboard of open publication as well as by direct collaboration Even while an investigator is working alone the process is strongly influenced by knowledge and skills stored in memory as a result of previous social interactions In this sense all research on discovery including the investigations on individual processes discussed in this book is social psychology or even sociology

Algorithmic Learning Theory Klaus P. Jantke, Shigenobu Kobayashi, Etsuji Tomita, 1993-10-20 Annotation This volume contains the papers that were presented at the Third Workshop on Algorithmic Learning Theory held in Tokyo in October 1992 In addition to 3 invited papers the volume contains 19 papers accepted for presentation selected from 29 submitted extended abstracts The ALT workshops have been held annually since 1990 and are organized and sponsored by the Japanese Society for Artificial Intelligence The main objective of these workshops is to provide an open forum for discussions and exchanges of ideas between researchers from various backgrounds in this emerging interdisciplinary field of learning theory The volume is organized into parts on learning via query neural networks inductive inference analogical reasoning and approximate learning
