Royal Musical Association

Machine Musicianship:

Machine Musicianship Robert Rowe, 2004-01-30 Musicians begin formal training by acquiring a body of musical concepts commonly known as musicianship These concepts underlie the musical skills of listening performance and composition Like humans computer music programs can benefit from a systematic foundation of musical knowledge This book explores the technology of implementing musical processes such as segmentation pattern processing and interactive improvisation in computer programs It shows how the resulting applications can be used to accomplish tasks ranging from the solution of simple musical problems to the live performance of interactive compositions and the design of musically responsive installations and Web sites Machine Musicianship is both a programming tutorial and an exploration of the foundational concepts of musical analysis performance and composition The theoretical foundations are derived from the fields of music theory computer music music cognition and artificial intelligence The book will be of interest to practitioners of those fields as well as to performers and composers The concepts are programmed using C and Max The accompanying CD ROM includes working versions of the examples as well as source code and a hypertext document showing how the code leads to the program s musical functionality

Machines as Agency Christoph Lischka, Andrea Sick, 2015-07-15 This book supports and deepens the existing interfaces between art science and technology transgressing traditional principles and styles of research and selectively overcoming the side by side coexistence in favour of an integrated laboratory of the future Instead of relying on traditional dualisms like nature culture subject object as well as man and machine heterogeneous networks with humans and non humans Latour are opened in shared contexts of agency New momentary propositions are developed meeting the complexity of discovering exploring and inventing things things which do not exist just as given beings The artists and theoreticians can pursue using the tools and techniques of science actively not only to comment them but also to fathom their possibilities and employ them in their artistic and scientific projects Machines as Agency is an artistic perspective

Mathemusical Conversations: Mathematics And Computation In Music Performance And Composition Elaine Chew, Gerard Assayag, Jordan B L Smith, 2016-07-21 Mathemusical Conversations celebrates the understanding of music through mathematics and the appreciation of mathematics through music This volume is a compilation of the invited talks given at the Mathemusical Conversations workshop that took place in Singapore from 13-15 February 2015 organized by Elaine Chew in partnership with Gerard Assayag for the scientific program and with Bernard Lanskey for the artistic program The contributors are world experts and leading scholars writing on the intersection of music and mathematics They also focus on performance and composition two topics which are foundational both to the understanding of human creativity and to the creation of tomorrow s music technologies This book is essential reading for researchers in both music and mathematics It will also appeal more broadly to scholars students musicians and anyone interested in new perspectives on the intimate relationship between these two universal human activities
