Machine Gunners:

Machine Gunner, 1914-18 C. E. Crutchley, 2013-11-28 In 1914 there were only two machine guns supporting a British infantry battalion of 800 men and in the light of the effectiveness of German and French machine guns the Machine Gun Corps was formed in October 1915 This remarkable book compiled and edited by C E Crutchley is a collection of the personal accounts of officers and men who served in the front lines with their machine guns in one of the most ghastly wars spread over three continents The strength of the book lies in the fact that these are the actual words of the soldiers themselves complete with characteristic modes of expression and oddities of emphasis and spelling All theatres of war are covered from the defence of the Suez Canal Gallipoli and Mesopotamia in the east to France and Flanders the German offensive of March 1918 and the final act on the Western Front that brought the war to an end October 2006 is the 90th anniversary of the formation of the Machine Gun Corps

Gunner's Glory Johnnie Clark, 2004-11-23 They were warriors trained to fight dedicated to their country and determined to win At Guadalcanal the Marine Corps machine gunners took everything the Japanese could throw at them in one of the bloodiest battles of World War II their position was so hopeless that at one point they were given the go ahead to surrender Near the Chosin Reservoir in Korea as the mercury dropped to twenty below the 1st Marine Division found itself surrounded and cut off by the enemy The outlook seemed so bleak that many in Washington had privately written off the men But surrender is not part of a Marine's vocabulary Gunner's Glory contains true stories of these and other tough battles in the Pacific in Korea and in Vietnam recounted by the machine gunners who fought them Bloody wounded sometimes barely alive they stayed with their guns delivering a stream of firepower that often turned defeat into victory and always made them the enemy's first target

A Machine-Gunner in France Ward Schrantz,2019-04-15 Despite their extensive service in World War I few members of the Kansas Missouri 35th Division left lengthy memoirs of their experiences in the American Expeditionary Forces But Ward Loren Schrantz filled dozens of pages with his recollections of life as a National Guard officer and machine gun company commander in the Santa Fe Division In A Machine Gunner in France Schrantz extensively documents his experiences and those of his men from training at Camp Doniphan to their voyage across the Atlantic and to their time in the trenches in France s Vosges Mountains and ultimately to their return home He devotes much of his memoir to the Meuse Argonne Offensive in which the 35th Division suffered heavy casualties and made only moderate gains before being replaced by fresh troops Schrantz provides a valuable common soldier s view of why the division failed to live up to the expectations of the A E F high command Schrantz also describes the daily life of a soldier including living conditions relations between officers and enlisted men and the horrific experience of combat He paints literary portraits of the warriors who populated the A E F and the civilians he encountered in France Schrantz s small town newspaper experience allowed him to craft a well written and entertaining narrative Because he did not intend his memoir for publication the Missourian wrote in an honest and unassuming style with extensive detail vivid descriptions and occasional humor Editor Jeffrey Patrick combines his narrative with excerpts from a detailed history of the unit that Schrantz wrote for his local newspaper and also provides an editor s introduction and annotations to document and explain items and sources in the memoir This is not a romantic account of the war but a realistic record of how American citizen soldiers actually fought on the Western Front

With the Machine Gunners in France and Palestine J. H. Luxford,2003-07 Among all the various British regimental or Corps histories of the Great War there is not one of the Machine Gun Corps formed in October 1915 apart from G S Hutchison s Machine Guns which is rather a history of machine guns and their tactical employment especially during the Great War This publication however is first and foremost a history of the NZ MG Corps on the Western Front its formation its organization its employment and its personnel and similarly of the NZ MG Squadron in Palestine It concludes like many regimental histories with the list of Honours and Awards followed by the Roll of Honour which lists thirty officers and nearly 350 other ranks giving date of death and place of burial The book is arranged in two parts the first deals with the formation of the NZ MG Corps in Egypt at the beginning of 1916 its move to France in April 1916 with the NZ Division of which it was part and its subsequent fortunes on and off the battlefield The second part tells the story of the MG Squadron in the Palestine campaign It was formed in July 1916 for service with the NZ Mounted Brigade and fought in support of it in numerous actions This is a good history based on official records though the author notes that while the War Diaries of the Squadron were excellently kept he couldn't say the same of all the companies or of the battalion in France However it is full of action with plenty of individuals named An excellent feature is the number of clear interesting contemporary photos      Machine Guns Graham Seton Hutchison, 1938
