How to Observe the Sun Safely Lee Macdonald,2012-12-06 The Sun is the brightest and most accessible object in the sky and it has much to offer the amateur astronomer with modest equipment On most days it shows sunspots and other features that display a wealth of fine detail and change their appearance strikingly from day to day But observing the Sun can be dangerous NEVER look at the Sun through a telescope or other optical aid even for a brief instant The Sun's intense radiation amplified and focused by a telescope will almost certainly cause eye injury and could well lead to complete blindness Do not attempt any solar observing until you have read and understood the safety precautions and observing advice set out in Chapter 2 of this book even if you think you have the correct equipment Be especially wary about using filters to observe the Sun If you have a filter that makes the Sun look dark it is not necessarily safe as it is largely the Sun's invisible radiation that is harmful to the eye But provided you use the correct techniques such as projecting the solar image onto a screen or using a specially designed quality solar filter that fits over the telescope aperture it is quite easy to observe the Sun safely
