Napoleon's Conquest of Prussia - 1806 Francis Loraine Petre, 1907      Napoleon's Conquest of Prussia - 1806
Francis Loraine Petre O.B.E, 2011-06-14 At the beginning of 1806 Napoleon could feel rather satisfied with his conquests although the Russian Bear had been brutally beaten and the Austrian Eagle damaged beyond repair after the carnage of Austerlitz. However lurking to the north were the inheritors of Frederick the Great's legacy of Rossbach and Leuthen their sullen neutrality during 1805 had been bought by the price of the annexation of Hanover the Prince elector of which sat on the British throne. It would only be a matter of time before the Prussian army tested their might against Napoleon's legions young Prussians could be found outside the French embassy in Berlin sharpening their swords against its steps. Queen Luise was a vocal focus for the war party. With the most positive expectations for the campaign the lumbering Prussian army led by veterans in their sixties, seventies and even eighties groped to find Napoleon and his much faster moving corps d'armée. Napoleon's Marshals and generals were mostly apart from a few notable exceptions one bordering on treason at the top of their professional competency. Few if any however would have expected the campaign to unfold as it did as Napoleon actively searched for the main Prussian army he found and destroyed a significant portion of the army at Jena a single of his corps under Davout faced and defeated the majority at Auerstedt. What followed thereafter was the most relentless pursuit of the Napoleonic Wars combined with a number of capitulations which did not honour to Prussian arms. Prussia was defeated completely with a scant regard to future relations with this state. Napoleon dismembered the state imposed war reparations that would have made the French at Compiègne a century later blush allowed his soldiers to pillage on an unheard of scale. Not that he himself was immune to the tendency to take what might allowed he took amongst other trophies Frederick the Great's own sword. Reduced to a second rate power Prussia occupied by French soldiers would look to the crumbs that Napoleon might hand out and hope that other powers might topple the mighty Napoleon. As with all of Petre's books on the Napoleonic period his work is well written scrupulously researched and balanced. We have taken the liberty as diacritics appear in Petre's book to change Blücher to Blücher. Author Francis Lorraine Petre OBE 1852-1925. Plans ALL included 7 total.
