Narrative Strategies:

Narrative Justice Rafe McGregor, 2018-09-16 This book introduces narrative justice a new theory of aesthetic education the thesis that the cultivation of aesthetic or artistic sensibility can both improve moral character and achieve political justice The author argues that there is a subcategory of narrative representations that provide moral knowledge regardless of their categorisation as fiction or non fiction and which therefore can be employed as a means of moral improvement McGregor applies this narrative ethics to the criminology of inhumanity including both crimes against humanity and terrorism Expanding on the methodology of narrative criminology he demonstrates that narrative representations can be employed to evaluate responsibility for inhumanity to understand the psychology of inhumanity and to undermine inhumanity and are thus a means to the end of opposing injustice He concludes that the cultivation of narrative sensibility is an important tool for both moral improvement and political justice

Gothic Traditions and Narrative Techniques in the Fiction of Eudora

Welty Ruth D. Weston, 1994-11-01 In this study Ruth D Weston probes the whole of Eudora Welty's work to reveal the writer's close relationship to the gothic tradition Specifically Weston shows how Welty employs the theme of enclosure and escape and settings that convey a sense of mystery gothic adaptations both to create certain narrative techniques in her fiction Differentiating at the outset between the Gothic genre as opposed to elements of the gothic tradition and acknowledging both critics and Welty's own reluctance to link her writing with the former Weston plunges in and brilliantly discloses the relationship Welty's writing has to both and in doing so describes a rich literary heritage to which Welty belongs She shows how the tradition of adapting European Gothic conventions to American settings has come down to us through writers such as Hawthorne particularly through the short story and continues in Welty's fiction Among Welty's narrative techniques that Weston discusses are plot structures built around betrayal and captivity reversal of characters gender roles a tone sometimes similar to that of gothic genres such as the fairy tale or ghost story and affective settings in gothic spaces such as the woods along the Natchez Trace These techniques Weston explains help Welty in illustrating restrictions placed on the individual's search for selfhood by human relationships cultural expectations and memory In addition to examining the texts themselves Weston draws on Welty's critical and theoretical writings and her letters and other materials in archival collections She also gleans insights from the work of contemporary narrative theorists feminist critics and recent commentators on the Gothic In the course of her presentation she offers some excellent new assessments of Welty's relation to the female Gothic and the Southern Gothic and to William Faulkner and Jane Austen This book is one of the most informed studies to date of Welty's relation to the literary mainstream of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Welty scholars as well as general readers of American and southern literature will gain a deep appreciation for Welty's imaginative and original response to the Gothic literary tradition

Making Time Carolin Gebauer, 2021-04-19 2023 Perkins Prize of the International Society for the Study of Narrative ESSE Book Award for Junior Scholars for a book in the field of Literatures in the English Language Responding to the current surge in present tense novels Making Time is an innovative contribution to narratological research on present tense usage in narrative fiction Breaking with the tradition of conceptualizing the present tense purely as a deictic category denoting synchronicity between a narrative event and its presentation the study redefines present tense narration as a fully fledged narrative strategy whose functional potential far exceeds temporal relations between story and discourse The first part of the volume presents numerous analytical categories that systematically describe the formal structural functional and syntactic dimensions of present tense usage in narrative fiction These categories are then deployed to investigate the uses and functions of present tense narration in selected twenty first century novels including Hilary Mantel's Wolf Hall Margaret Atwood's Oryx and Crake Ian McEwan's Nutshell and Irvine Welsh's Skagboys The seven case studies serve to illustrate the ubiquity of present tense narration in contemporary fiction ranging from the historical novel to the thriller and to investigate the various ways in which the present tense contributes to narrative worldmaking

Science Meets Literature Dario Maestripieri, 2019-06-28 Elias Canetti's 1935 novel Auto da F original German title Die Blendung has traditionally been difficult to interpret and the author's intentions in writing it have remained unclear Science Meets Literature argues that Auto da F is a novel about human nature that illustrates the workings of the human mind and some universal aspects of human behavior and human social relationships Canetti's insights anticipated later scientific discoveries made by cognitive social and evolutionary psychology including the existence of irrational biases in human cognition e.g. in perception beliefs and decision making the strengths and limitations of human theory of mind skills i.e. our ability to think about other people's minds and read them the establishment maintenance and reversal of dominance in social relationships between two individuals and the role of dehumanization in harmful behavior Canetti intended to warn against the conviction held by some intellectuals that human nature can be denied controlled ignored or dismissed His approach in Auto da F was an original attempt at the integration of knowledge formation in sciences and humanities He pointed the way for future successful attempts at the integration of evolution cognitive science and literature as well as for the broader integration of sciences and humanities

Hawthorne's Narrative Strategies Dunne, Michael, 1995 For more than 150 years readers have interpreted Nathaniel Hawthorne's fiction in a dazzling variety of ways Instead of arguing in favor of or against what these readers conceive the fiction to mean this examination of Hawthorne's narrative strategies demonstrates how he leads readers to reason as they do

Hawthorne's Narrative Strategies Michael Dunne, 2007-11 For more than 150 years readers have interpreted Nathaniel Hawthorne's fiction in a dazzling variety of ways Instead of arguing in favor of or against what these readers conceive the fiction to mean this examination of Hawthorne's narrative strategies demonstrates how he leads readers to reason as they do Throughout his career Hawthorne manipulated and experimented with all the elements of narrative discourse creating texts that continue to cry out for yet defy interpretation In The Marble Faun just as in his earliest tales and sketches Hawthorne varies pronouns and verb tenses often within the same paragraph In all his works he affirms the factuality of invented incidents in one sentence then undermines the affirmation in the next His narrators often confess themselves uncertain about their own narratives In some of his fictions elements of romantic ideology are proposed as alternatively irresistible and foolish In others domesticity is represented both as the only avenue to true happiness and as a wishful illusion Thus as this study reveals in Hawthorne's works history proves to be no more reliable than some obvious Gothic convention Close readers of Hawthorne's narratives feel the compulsion to interpret

although they can do so only by ignoring considerable contradictions This ploy however is Hawthorne s narrative strategy that destabilizes the reader by offering interpretive choices that can be accepted only by rejecting other equally plausible choices

Counter-Terrorism Ajit Maan,2014-12-16 Understanding and harnessing the persuasive powers of narrative is central to U S and international counter terrorism efforts There is an urgent need to understand the narrative tactics of terrorist recruitment and an equal if not greater need to destabilize and exploit the weaknesses of those narratives Maan makes a connection unique to terrorism studies between the mechanisms of colonizing narratives and psychological warfare aimed at the recruit The power of both relies on misidentification both types of narratives encourage individuals to take actions contrary to their best interests and both are insidious they are continued internally without the implementation of external physical force While these narrative strategies have been powerful Maan makes the argument also unique to terrorism studies that certain types of compositional structures lend themselves to manipulation and the weakness of those structures can be exploited from a security standpoint
