Narratives Of Human Evolution:

Narratives of Human Evolution Misia Landau, 1993-01-01 Aims to uncover a hidden level of agreement among theories of human evolution Analyzing classic texts on evolution by Darwin and Keith as well as relatively recent accounts by Dart Robinson and Tobias the book reveals that they have a common narrative form based on the universal hero tale

Gender, Sexuality and Reproduction in Evolutionary Narratives Venla Oikkonen, 2013-07-18 Since the early 1990s evolutionary psychology has produced widely popular visions of modern men and women as driven by their prehistoric genes In Gender Sexuality and Reproduction in Evolutionary Narratives Venla Oikkonen explores the rhetorical appeal of evolutionary psychology by viewing it as part of the Darwinian narrative tradition Refusing to start from the position of dismissing evolutionary psychology as reactionary or scientifically invalid the book examines evolutionary psychologists investments in such contested concepts as teleology and variation The book traces the emergence of evolutionary psychological narratives of gender sexuality and reproduction encompassing Charles Darwin s understanding of transformation and sexual difference Edward O Wilson s evolutionary mythology and the evolution creationism controversy Richard Dawkins molecular agency and new imaging technologies the connections between adultery infertility and homosexuality in adaptationist thought Through popular literary and scientific texts the book identifies both the imaginative potential and the structural weaknesses in evolutionary narratives opening them up for feminist and queer revision This book will be of interest to students and scholars of the humanities and social sciences particularly in gender studies cultural studies literature sexualities and science and technology studies

Narrative Politics Frederick W. Mayer, 2014 Narrative Politics explores two puzzles The first has long preoccupied social scientists How do individuals come together to act collectively in their common interest The second is one that has long been ignored by social scientists Why is it that those who promote collective action so often turn to stories Why is it that when activists call for action candidates solicit votes organizers seek new members generals rally their troops or coaches motivate their players there is so much story telling Frederick W Mayer argues that answering these questions requires recognizing the power of story to overcome the main obstacles to collective action to surmount the temptation to free ride to coordinate group behavior and to arrive at a common understanding of the collective interest In this book Mayer shows that humans are if nothing else a story telling story consuming animal We use stories to make sense of our experience and to imbue it with meaning our self narratives define our sense of identity and script our actions Because we are constituted by narrative we can be moved by the stories told to us by others That is why leaders who call a community to action seek to frame their invocations in a story in which tragedy and triumph hang in the balance in which taking part in the collective action becomes a moral imperative rather than a matter of calculated self interest Drawing on insights from neuroscience and behavioral economics political science and sociology history and cultural studies literature and narrative theory Narrative Politics sheds light on a wide range of political phenomena from social movements to electoral politics to offer lessons for how the power of story fosters collective action      How Scientific Accounts Appeal to Their Authors and Readers Yaakov Jerome Garb,1993      Theories of Human Evolution Peter J. Bowler,1986 The question of human origin has always been disputed by evolution theorists This book provides a comprehensive survey of the debates over human evolution from the time of Darwin to the 1940s Part 1 discusses the early controversies noting that they focused on philosophical issues rather than causes or details of the evolutionary process A framework for the debate is outlined considering evolution theory with race culture and the progress of humankind Part 2 describes various theories including the Neanderthal Phase theory the Presapiens theory the Tarsoid theory and Polytypic theories Part 3 of the book deals with interpretations of the causes of human evolution Arguments are presented which relate to the factors of brain expansion upright posture and environment in the evolutionary process Trends in human evolution are discussed including convergence Lamarckism nonadaptive trends and orthogenesis The book ends with a review of arguments concerning Broom's 1933 question The coming of man was it accident or design An extensive listing of references is provided in a bibliography and note section TW      Popular Research Narratives Engineering Foundation (U.S.),1926      Cambridge Anthropology ,1991      StoryFrames Cynthia Pelman,2023-12-07 StoryFrames supporting silent children in the classroom How does a teacher support a child who has recently arrived at school speaking another language and who remains completely silent at school for weeks or months not participating in class and not even playing with other children The child's parents often report that the child speaks and plays normally at home with their family and with other children who speak the child's language These children undergoing the Silent Period are usually children who have relocated from another country either voluntarily or as refugees or migrants For a variety of reasons these children do not have the resilience needed to cope with the many changes and anxieties they have experienced The losses for these children are more than the loss of familiar faces places and conversations the loss of their home language is experienced as a loss of the self they had known before the relocation The psychoanalytic theories of Colette Granger provide a way to understand the experiences of these migrant children The StoryFrames book sets out an easy to follow low cost method of supporting these children enabling them to emerge from their silence and to play with other children The book is written by a speech and language therapist but any teacher social worker or volunteer who is experienced in working with young children can run this programme The methodology of this programme is grounded in the developmental theories of Winnicott and Vygotsky and as such it stresses the nature and quality of the teacher child relationship which is at the core of this kind of work The book explores the feelings not only of the child in this situation but also of the teacher working with such a child such a teacher must deal with their own anxieties about what the child is experiencing and about whether they as the teacher who is expected to solve these problems could be doing something different The StoryFrames method is not only for second language learners It has been successfully used with children who have a wide range of communication disabilities Children with Developmental Language Disorder children who stutter children with intellectual disabilities and Highly Sensitive Children have all benefited from the use of this programme which uses narrative and pretend play to help the child to develop linguistic and cognitive skills as well as to have the confidence needed to communicate with others in spite of the difficulties This book is an invaluable source of information for anyone wanting to understand the nature of the teacher or speech therapist s relationship with children with communication difficulties and should be essential reading for trainee speech and language therapists as well as for teachers training in early years education     Kritikon Litterarum ,1991     Evolutionary Biology at the Crossroads Max K. Hecht,1989     Legal Conversation as Signifier Jan M. Broekman, Frank Fleerackers, 2017-09-29 Conversation and argument concerning laws and legal situations take place throughout society and at all levels yet the language of these conversations differs greatly from that of the courtroom This insightful book considers the gap between everyday discussion about law and the artificial technical language developed by lawyers judges and other legal specialists In doing so it explores the intriguing possibilities for future synthesis a problem often neglected by legal theory     Ethnographic Film Aesthetics and Narrative Traditions Peter Ian Crawford, Jan Ketil Simonsen, 1992     Narratives of Development : Romanticism, Modernity, and Imperial History Eric Meyer, 1991     ANTIQUITY MARTIN CARVER, 2003     The Human Evolution Source Book Russell L.
