The Narrative Impulse Mary Joe Purcell,1963    Studies in Short Fiction ,1978    The English Short Story in Canada Reingard M. Nischik,2017-04-20 In 2013 the Nobel Prize for Literature was for the first time awarded to a short story writer and to a Canadian Alice Munro The award focused international attention on a genre that had long been thriving in Canada particularly since the 1960s This book traces the development and highlights of the English language Canadian short story from the late 19th century up to the present The history as well as the theoretical approaches to the genre are covered with in depth examination of exemplary stories by prominent writers such as Margaret Atwood and Alice Munro

Matti Peikola, Janne Skaffari, Sanna-Kaisa Tanskanen, 2009 The history of English writing is to a considerable extent the history of instructional writing in English. This volume is the first collection of papers to focus on instructional writing throughout the history of the language. Spanning a millennium of English texts, the materials studied represent procedural and behavioural discourse in a variety of genres. The primary texts from AElfric's homilies to medieval cooking recipes to seventeenth century American conduct literature to present day language textbooks display a variety of linguistic devices typical of instruction. The materials nonetheless differ with respect to the explicitness of their instructive purpose. Bringing together a broad range of instructional writing from the Old, Middle and Modern English periods, this collection celebrates the sixtieth birthday of Risto Hiltunen who has successfully combined discourse linguistic approaches with the history of English in his research and inspired the colleagues and former students contributing to this volume.
