Gender and Domestic Violence Brenda Russell, John Hamel, 2022-07-12 Societal beliefs that domestic violence is primarily a crime against women otherwise known as the gender paradigm involves the presumption that domestic violence is about the abuse of women by men Gender and Domestic Violence directly challenges this prevailing paradigm by demonstrating how it has led to differential treatment that can jeopardize defendant due process and victim safety Experts legal scholars and practicing attorneys provide tools to become more inclusive in the process and practice of domestic violence criminal justice policies Transactional Analysis Journal ,1993 For Better Times ,1988 Young Children's Behaviour Louise Porter, 2020-07-16 The book provides a comprehensive yet practical discussion of guidance strategies that can be implemented in a variety of situations These strategies promote a respect for children and their rights enhance children's self esteem and help to foster pro social skills This book is a must read for both students and practitioners who work with children and families Dr Laura McFarland School of Education Charles Sturt University Drawing on the latest research evidence Young Children's Behaviour outlines the beliefs and values that underpin the guidance approach to managing the behaviours of children from birth to eight years of age. In contrast with rewards and punishment systems, guidance believes that children do not need incentives to behave well but instead need skills. Rather than punishing them for lacking skills, guidance teaches young children self-regulation skills so that they can behave considerately. The author provides practical strategies that both meet children's needs and safeguard the rights of surrounding adults and children. These methods include listening, being assertive, giving positive instructions, solving problems collaboratively, and coaching children to self-regulate their emotions and impulses. The text also offers advice on responding to many common challenges, including separation distress, meltdowns, aggression, and social withdrawal. Finally, the book suggests how educators can provide educational and behavioural support for children with atypical development and describes how to foster effective relationships with parents whose children display challenging behaviours. Dr Louise Porter powerfully argues that behaviour guidance is the most effective approach to working with young children and reflects the deepest values of early childhood education and care.

The Men's Bibliography Michael Flood, 1995 Case Studies in Family Violence Robert T. Ammerman, Michel Hersen, 1991-01-31

The past 20 years have seen the emergence of family violence as one of the most critical problems facing society. The alarming incidence figures of abuse and neglect directed toward family members justify this attention. For example, over 1 million children are thought to be abused and neglected each year. Similarly, almost 2 million women are victims of wife battering each year. Annual rates of elderly mistreatment are thought to be as high as 32 per 1000 population. Accurate epidemiological data only now are being compiled on more recently recognized forms of mistreatment such as psychological abuse, ritualistic abuse of children, and child witnessing of adult violence. The pervasiveness of domestic mistreatment makes it a priority for clinicians and researchers alike. For clinicians, intrafamilial violence represents a formidable challenge with respect to assessment and treatment. The etiology of abuse and neglect is multidetermined. There are numerous pathways in the development of family violence, and these interact and converge in a nonlinear fashion. The consequences of family violence are equally complex and divergent. Victims of mistreatment can display a variety of physical injuries and psychological disturbances. No single psychiatric syndrome or symptom constellation has been consistently implicated in any form of family mistreatment. The perpetrators of family violence are equally heterogeneous in their clinical presentations. Illustrative dysfunctions in perpetrators include skill deficits, substance abuse, mental illness, and impulse control disorders.

Female Relational Aggression and Domestic Abuse Conrad Riker, This book explores the manipulative tactics women use in relationships such as nagging, relational aggression, animus, possession, and blaming men for everything. It delves into the use of institutions like social services and the police to control and oppress men, as well as the use of children as tools to extort money from the state and from men. The book aims to debunk the influence of progressive ideologies and provide a macho patriarchal and rational perspective based on objective facts. Journal of
