Jackson,2009-08-04 In the past arbitration direct bargaining the use of intermediaries and deference to international institutions were relatively successful tools for managing interstate conflict In the face of terrorism intrastate wars and the multitude of other threats in the post Cold War era however the conflict resolution tool kit must include preventive diplomacy humanitarian intervention regional task sharing and truth commissions Here Jacob Bercovitch and Richard Jackson two internationally recognized experts systematically examine each one of these conflict resolution tools and describe how it works and in what conflict situations it is most likely to be effective Conflict Resolution in the Twenty first Century is not only an essential introduction for students and scholars it is a must have guide for the men and women entrusted with creating stability and security in our changing world Cover illustration iStockphoto.com

Using Force to Prevent Ethnic Violence David Carment, Frank P. Harvey, 2001 More than ever before ethnic struggle finds expression in the growing incidence and scale of displaced persons and refugee flows as well as in exacerbated levels of ethnic minority abuse and involuntary assimilation Demographic and political sources of instability in multi ethnic societies assure the continuing significance of ethnic strife and the potential for intrastate ethnic violence far into the next millennium While not all disagreements between ethnic groups can be expected to escalate into violence more than a few have produced intractable and destructive conflicts and one or more of these conflicts could ultimately reach levels that overwhelm international resources and capabilities Carment and Harvey examine how regional and international security organizations can prevent destructive ethnic conflict and manage cases in which violence already is at hand First they develop a conceptual framework for advancing basic research on the prevention and management of intrastate ethnic violence They evaluate theoretical knowledge about the nature of ethnic conflict using case material and quantitative assessments and they apply these assumptions against recent instances of conflict management through an in depth study of NATO's involvement in Kosovo and Bosnia This book serves as an important research tool for students scholars and policy makers involved with ethnic conflict and international relations

A World Turned Upside Down Neil Boothby, Alison Strang, Michael G. Wessells, 2006 Authors with wide ranging experience with children in war zones across the globe Looks at the psychology of children's experiences in conflict in the context of their families and communities A World Turned Upside Down looks at the experiences of children in war from a psychological and social ecological perspective offering thoughtful observations and dispelling myths about what results when children grow up in conflict situations In contrast to individualized approaches the volume offers a deeper conceptualization that shows the socially mediated impacts of war Children exposed to the same traumatic experiences may have different reactions and needs for psychosocial support Further psychosocial assistance to war affected children often occurs not through the provision of therapy by outsiders but via support from insiders Each contributor has worked extensively with children in war zones in Europe Africa Latin America and Asia They refrain from common perceptions of children as victims of war induced trauma to provide a holistic understanding of children's experiences Each helps pinpoint ways to reduce further violence foster well being and nurture the kinds of social connections that can liberate children from the pathologies of war so that they can mature into healthy and well adjusted adults Other contributors Alastair Ager Cairo Arafat Catherine Chen Amy E Hepburn Kathleen Kostelný Siobhán McEvoy Levy Susan McKay Dahab Musleh and Carl Triplehorn the armed forces and assigning them new roles As a result military civilian humanitarianism _the coming together of military forces and civilian agencies to deal with the human suffering from complex emergencies_is on the rise despite recent setbacks in Somalia and Bosnia Is it possible and worthwhile to use the military in conjunction with humanitarian action to thwart violence and mitigate civilian suffering This timely book seeks to answer this question by looking at the contemporary context and history of military civilian interactions developing a framework for assessing military costs and civilian benefits and examining in depth the five most prominent cases_Northern Iraq Somalia Bosnia Rwanda and Haiti It further suggests how multilateral military operations could expand or contract in the future to the benefit or peril of war victims
