Mandelas Children Growing Up In Post Apartheid South Africa:

Mandela's Children Oscar A. Barbarin, Linda M. Richter, 2013-11-26 There is a gap between the hope for improved social conditions in post apartheid South Africa and the grim reality of black life there is especially striking for South African children who face serious threats to their health and development as a consequence of poverty racism violence and residual social inequality Mandela's Children presents the contrasting conditions of hope and peril that characterize life in South African families schools and communities Using empirical data and qualitative case studies the authors analyze and discuss research on children's behavioral emotional and academic development and how they are influenced by community violence household poverty and family functioning This discussion is balanced by one that considers the competence health and resilience of South African children

Exploring childhood in a comparative context Mabel Ann Brown, Jon White, 2013-09-05 Exploring Childhood in a Comparative Context meets an increasing need for students focusing on early childhood to be familiar with alternative practices in other countries Providing a ready made source of information about a wide range of countries including Finland the Netherlands the United States New Zealand Japan South Africa and many more the book clearly describes the way each country understands and conceptualises childhood Each chapter includes contextual information about the country an introduction to the theory that has shaped practice and describes the curriculum for pre school and primary education Including vignettes from practitioners working in each country to illustrate practice the chapters explore key themes such as Child development Parental involvement Teaching and learning Professionalism Assessment Pupil experience Accessibly written and including opportunities for reflection this timely new book will give students a valuable insight into alternative education systems that is essential if they are to become practitioners with a current and global approach

Father Involvement in Young Children's Lives Jyotsna Pattnaik, 2012-12-30 This vital addition to Springer's Educating the Young Child series addresses gaps in the literature on father involvement in the lives of young children a topic with a fast rising profile in today's world of female breadwinners and single parent households While the significant body of theoretical understanding and empirical data accumulated in recent decades has done much to characterize the fluidity of evolving notions of fatherhood the impact of this understanding on policy and legal frameworks has been uneven at an international level In a field where groups of fathers were until recently marginalized in research this book adopts a refreshingly inclusive attitude aiming to motivate researchers to capture the nuanced practices of fathers in minority groups such as those who are homeless gay imprisoned raising a disabled child or from ethnically distinct backgrounds including Mexican and African American and indigenous fathers The volume includes chapters highlighting the unique challenges and possibilities of father involvement in their children's early years of development Contributing authors have integrated theories research policies and programs on father involvement so as to attract readers with diverse interest and expertise and material from selected countries in Asia Australia and Africa as well as North America evinces the international scope of their analysis Their often interdisciplinary analyses draw too on historical and cultural legacies even as they project a vision of the future in which fathers involvement in their young children s lives develops alongside the changing political economic and educational landscapes around the world

Primary Education in Crisis Brahm Fleisch,2008 In the past decade the national preoccupation has been on the crisis in secondary schools Lurking behind the intractable problem of low pass rates the dysfunctional schools and the small number of higher grade mathematics and science graduates is the calamity in primary education Drawing on the work of researchers in a range of fields including psychology sociology anthropology linguistics economics the health sciences and mathematics education this book documents the depth and scope of the primary education crisis and provides a comprehensive and rigorous explanation of its causes Primary education in crisis pulls together the wealth of research on health poverty resources language and teaching as factors in academic achievement in reading writing and mathematics At the centre of the book is an analysis of the published studies that systematically document what teachers teach and fail to teach and why it is that teaching is at the heart of the crisis in primary education The author suggests that there are no quick fixes but only hard choices and that for reform to succeed it must be evidence based

African Media, African Children Norma Odom Pecora, Enyonam Osei-Hwere, Ulla Carlsson, 2008 African Media African Children is the title of the tenth Yearbook of the International Clearinghouse on Children Youth and Media Over the years we have focused attention on a wide range of topics but this is the first Yearbook with a geographical focus and a vast continent

at that A focus on Africa seems both timely and important When issues about children and media are discussed all too often the frame of reference is the media culture of the Western world There is an urgent need for the agenda to become open to non Western thoughts and intercultural approaches to a much higher degree than is the case at present The essays in this volume reflect a wide range of issues and concerns related to children s media culture in Africa For example several address the role of entertainment television in Addis Abba Ghana South Africa Kenya and Zambia and in the lives of Muslim children Other essays introduce us to children centered media from Ghana South Africa and Zimbabwe and the innovative programs of PLAN International In addition to entertainment media and children centered media media education and digital media literacy are also discussed Publisher website Science John Michels (Journalist),2006 Since Jan 1901 the official proceedings and most of the papers of the American Association for the Advancement of Science have been included in Science The Impact of women oppression on the societal destruction. A case study of Chinua Achebe's "Things Fall Apart" Jean Damascene Ngendahayo,2018-02-14 Academic Paper from the year 2014 in the subject Sociology Relationships and Family language English abstract The research s concern here is on women oppression in the Igbo society and with its impact on the societal destruction When carrying the research the forms of women oppression were investigated in this Achebe s Things Fall Apart whereby inequality inheritance deprivation for female gender women beating and other abuses against femininity were mainly based on in this research to investigate the reasons of Igbo societal destruction Okonkwo who ruled his wives and children with a heavy hand was both a woman hater and oppressor Hence this behavior and belief have to be searched on for the purpose of finding out how it might lead his society to get destroyed This research bears the following objectives To identify the forms of oppression in Things Fall Apart to examine in which ways the society gets destroyed due to women oppression and to emphasize what women can do so as to get equal chances to their counterparts Referring to the objectives mentioned above the researcher wanted to answer these questions the first question was how has the Igbo society demonstrated the forms of women oppression in Things Fall Apart The forms of oppression were based on women beating deprivation of inheritance for female gender and different abuse against women The second one is where did the society get destroyed in the Igbo society in Things Fall Apart It is identified that women role is limited to households and children bearing not in economic and political whereby the women are not able to possess anything like men The third is how the women oppression contributed to the societal destruction The protagonist of Things Fall Apart Okonkwo a woman hater and oppressor led his society to destruction whereby his son Nwoye abused by him to behave like women became one of the people who got converted into Christianity unlike traditional and other hatred and violence against the femininity contributed much to the society destruction The findings identified that the Igbo society practiced different women oppression such as inequality lack of inheritance for girls children and women beating It was also noticed here that women were socially and economically undermined by men through their patriarchal culture and society The violence against the femininity pushed

Okonkwo to hang himself so that he could not be called a weak or woman for handing himself in white men's hands after killing the white man messenger

Baba Linda M. Richter, Robert Morrell, 2006 Authors from a range of backgrounds and disciplines break new ground in this collection of essays exploring the centrality of fatherhood in the lives of men and the experiences of children The book is separated into sections that address different ways that the presence or absence of a father affects both the man and the family from the conceptual questions of fatherhood to historical perspectives including the input of class and race issues to the portrayal of fathers in the media By turning attention to aspects of fatherhood each study illuminates the role of the male parent making the ultimate argument that the contribution of men to their families can be a positive force for change in society as a whole

The Real State of the Nation, 2003 From a theory of revolution to the management of a fragile State Saki Macozoma From the Freedom Charter to the Washington Consensus Dennis Davis Parties politics and the future of democracy Vincent T Maphai and Keith Gottschalk The politics of poverty David Everatt Rhythms patterning and articulations of social formations of South Africa Edgar Pieterse The boundaries of democracy gender HIV AIDS and culture Catherine Albertyn and Shireen Hassim Government's changing responses to HIV AIDS Olive Shisana and Nompumelelo Zungu Dirwayi

Monitoring Child Well-being Andrew Dawes, Rachel Bray, Amelia Van der Merwe, 2007 Taking a rights based approach this comprehensive study develops a conceptual framework and a definitive set of holistic indicators for monitoring the well being of children in South Africa Taking cues from the child rights focus of the South African constitution it is made clear that it is not just the state of the children that is important to measure but also the contexts within which the children grow and develop Providing practical tools for policy makers to assess the effectiveness of child based policies and interventions this practical work addresses a wide range of domains child poverty HIV and AIDS education mental health and disability abuse and neglect the justice system and children affected by the worst forms of labor
