Managing Transformations In Eastern Europe:

Managing Transformations in Eastern Europe Nikolai Genov, 1999-01-01     Global Trends in Eastern Europe Nikolai Genov, 2016-04-22 Eastern Europe was once clearly defined by the centralized political and economic organization of the societies in the region. They shared the same official ideology and were members of the same alliances. After 1989 the region collapsed in an economic, political and cultural implosion. What were the moving forces of this profound change? What are its consequences? Could we try to reasonably foresee any future developments? In this thought-provoking book Nikolai Genov presents a systematic description and explanation of Eastern European societal transformations after 1989. They are interpreted as adaptations to four global trends: upgrading the rationality of organizations, individualization, spreading of instrumental activism and universalization of value normative systems. Adaptations to these trends have generally been successful. However, Genov notes that the process is marked by many failures as well. They are mostly caused by path dependency in the societal development and by the varying quality of relevant decisions. Other destructive developments are due to contradictions in the global trends themselves. Guided by the assumption that the societal and supranational integration mechanisms in Eastern Europe before 1989 could not resist the overwhelming power of global trends, Genov's controversial findings question visions about the end of history and simultaneously strengthen the confidence that most complex macro social processes can be rationally managed. A timely book allowing for a much-needed engagement in contemporary debates on the controversial processes in Eastern European transitions.

Transformations in Managing Organisations in Central and Eastern European Countries, 1996     Social and Economic Transformation in East Central Europe Terry Cox, Bob Mason, 1999 This book focuses not only on economic and political transformation since the demise of communism in Eastern and Central Europe but also on the relationships between economic organization, social patterns and institutional change. The changes in political structure and policies of economic reform have in turn resulted in changes in social institutions and patterns of social relations. The authors look at social relations under the old regimes to understand the current social transformation. They consider economic restructuring both in the context of social change and in terms of its consequences for society using case studies from the Czech Republic, Hungary and Poland. The impact of economic changes on new forms of institutional arrangements, social patterns and organization are also discussed taking into account privatization, employment, social welfare, property and industrial relations. This new book will be welcomed by economists, political scientists and sociologists working in the area of transition.

Bridging Divides - Transformation in Eastern Europe Friedemann Müller, 1998     Organizational Change in Post-Communist Europe Ed Clark, Anna Soulsby, 2005-07-28 This book provides a unique and detailed examination of the complex processes of transformation in former state-owned enterprises in the Czech Republic. Drawing on in-depth case studies of organizational transformation, the authors adopt a social institutionalist approach to the study of organizational change, applying it in order to develop an explanation of organizational restructuring and management redefinition during the early transition period of 1990-1996. In particular, they highlight how these processes have been shaped by continuing historical state socialist legacies and the powerful role played by senior managers in their efforts to fashion the new privatized organizations in their own interests.

The Economic Transformation of Eastern Europe Bernard S. Katz, Libby Rittenberg, 1992-10-26. This volume provides an up-to-date account of how the process of economic transition in Eastern Europe is unfolding from the point of view of Eastern European economists assessing their native economies. The authors have personally experienced the frustrations of the previous Stalinist system of central planning and public ownership as well as the difficulties and pitfalls of designing new systems based on markets and private ownership. The book focuses on the three countries of Eastern Europe leading the reform efforts: Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Poland, and points out similarities and differences in their reform strategies. Although the stories of economic change in Eastern Europe have dominated news headlines, the real challenges of designing and maintaining viable economies are just beginning. The analysis in this volume will be of interest to those in the academic and policy-making communities.

Sociology in Central and Eastern Europe Mike Keen, Janusz Mucha, 2003-05-30. In this unique collection, more than 20 sociologists assembled from across Central and Eastern Europe chronicle the impact political transformation has had upon sociology during the last decade of the 20th century. Contributors investigate the general patterns this process has taken across the region as well as the differences from one country to the next. Also examined is the extent to which sociology has contributed to or participated in the transformation, i.e., helped the societies of Central and Eastern Europe identify, understand, and respond to the challenges and opportunities offered by it. Of particular interest is the extensive bibliography of sociological research in Central and Eastern Europe carried out during this period of transition.

Market-oriented Systemic Transformations in Eastern Europe Paul J. J. Welfens, 1992. Socialist economies in Eastern Europe have collapsed and embarked upon market-oriented reforms. The causes of the demise of centrally planned economies are analyzed, and the basic challenges of systemic transformation discussed. Negative income and wealth effects as well as distribution issues make adjustment extremely difficult. The fundamental roles of privatization and foreign investment are addressed. Foreign economic liberalization is considered to be of central importance for a growth-oriented adjustment path in a stage of conflict-prone policy and options. Politico-economic aspects of the new European developments in addition to North-South issues are analyzed. Difficult choices await decision makers in economic policy and the business community in Eastern Europe and in leading market economies.

Labour Markets and Unemployment in South-Eastern Europe Nikolai Genov, 2000. Ethnicity and Educational Policies in South-Eastern Europe Nikolai Genov, 2005. The crosscutting area of interethnic relations and educational policies is the locus of most intriguing scientific and practical issues in South-Eastern Europe. They concern economic, political, and cultural dimensions of social action and social order, touch upon sensitive relationships between individual and collective human rights, and imply integration or disintegration of societal systems     Management Consulting in Central and Eastern Europe Milan Kubr,1991     Managing Across Cultures Pat Joynt, Malcolm Warner, 2002 Managing Across Cultures an essential guide to cross cultural management has been fully revised and updated and includes contributions from many of the most outstanding authors in the field of crosscultural and comparative management such as Nancy Adler John Child Charles Hampden Turner and Fons Trompenaars Frank Heller David Hickson Geert Hofstede Fred Luthans Derek Pugh and Rosalie Tung amongst others Managing Across Cultures is concerned with crosscultural issues both generally and also more specifically in Australia East Asia Europe Latin America and the USA It examines culture not just in the commonly known sense i.e nation states and regional groupings but also at a corporate culture level It looks at how managers manage across different cultures and how they cope with globalization in practice This is an indispensable text for both teachers and students of international business and management as well as international executives and contains descriptions of the most recent thoughts and insightful ideas on globalization and culture the culturefree versus culture specific management debates area studies and management education practice     Transformation Processes in Eastern Europe Wolf-Dieter Eberwein,1992 The collected essays in this book deal with scientific experiments about a real one the transition from communism to democracy and the transformation of command to market economies in Central and Eastern Europe In the first part of the volume core issues involved in the breakdown and transformation of these nations are raised among others the sequencing of economic reforms and conditions leading to political system breakdown and reconstruction Simulation models in economics and political science which might be useful to explore systematically the complexity and dynamics of transformation processes are reviewed Simulation experiments using such models are presented in the second part analyzing alternative developmental paths of the societies in Central and Eastern Europe Will some of the Eastern European nations be able to integrate into the world economy How will Poland achieve the transition from a supply to a demand driven economy What are the implications of the transition to democracy for the former GDR for political stability And to what extent will the former GDR economy be able to catch up with that of the former FRG Finally data availability and quality for systematically reconstructing past developments and analyzing present trends is discussed in detail     Management Arthur G. Bedean,1993     Social Sciences in Southeastern Europe Nikolai Genov, Ulrike Becker,2001     The Anthropology of East Europe Review ,1998     Interethnic Integration in Five European Societies Nikolai Genov,2008     State, Market and Organizational Form Ayse Bugra, Behlül Üsdiken,2011-06-24 No detailed description available for State Market and Organizational Form     Transformation in Central, Eastern, and South-eastern Europe Andreas Gettkant,1994
