Chapter Two : Understanding Foreign Policy and Diplomacy

Foreign policy

- It is the actions, decisions and goals that states pursue towards the outside world
- the deriving motives behind foreign policy is the pursuit of national interest
 - ✓ States adopt foreign policy to achieve and promote their national interests
- Foreign policy is shaped by both external/systemic factors and internal factors
 - external/systemic factor
 - International regimes, international organizations
 - the prevalence of great powers at international level
 - internal factors
 - economic, technological and military capabilities of states

2.1. Defining National Interest

National interest

- the raison de tat, (the reason of state), to justify its actions and policy towards other states at international level scholarship free of charge and by reflecting on Greco Roman antiquity as present phenomenon and diachronic culture that is part of today's transcultural and highly diverse world. Antiquity in our understanding does not merely belong to the past but is always experienced and engaged in the present. This site contributes to the critical review on methods, theories, approaches and subjects in classical scholarship which currently seems to be awkwardly divided between traditional perspectives and cultural turns. This site brings together scholars, writers, essayists, artists and all kinds of agents in the culture industry to get a better understanding of how antiquity constitutes a part of today's culture and transforms our present. This site appears twice yearly and publishes regular issues as well as specially themed and guest edited issues focused on individual subjects and questions. Call for papers are released regularly and long in advance on our homepage <https://thissitejournal.de> and on other pages that feature announcements for classical studies. The Speculative Route

Merve Tabur, Sami Ahmad Khan, 2025-08-29. The Speculative Route explores speculative traditions and science fictional modes across South and Southwest Asia and North Africa (SSWANA) examining their historical connections inter and intra regional entanglements, overlaps and differences. Conceptualizing science fiction and fantasy (SFF) as a mode rather than a genre, this volume challenges the putative boundaries between literary and genre fiction through critical studies and essays focusing on SFF from Bangladesh, Egypt, India, Iran, Pakistan, Palestine, Sri Lanka and Turkey. It demonstrates the ways in which science fictional modes of thinking and imagination function as critical tools for addressing social, cultural and political issues beyond genre conventions and expectations. Bringing together articles by leading scholars of SFF and think pieces by acclaimed authors of contemporary SF, this volume focuses on central themes such as the relationship between aesthetics and politics, alterity, world building, memory, trauma, colonialism and decolonization, ecology, gender, religion and mythopoetics. It engages with the past, present and future of speculative traditions in SSWANA and compares the visions that emerge from these seemingly disparate but historically connected entities. Part of the Studies in Global Genre Fiction series, this volume will be of great interest to academics, students and practitioners in the fields of genre studies, notably SF, SFF, comparative literature, media and popular culture, area studies, postcolonial studies and future studies as well as to readers who are interested in exploring SFF works from the Global South.

Irish Women Writers and the Modern Short Story Elke

D'hoker, 2016-07-28. This book traces the development of the modern short story in the hands of Irish women writers from the 1890s to the present. George Egerton, Somerville and Ross, Elizabeth Bowen, Mary Lavin, Edna O'Brien, Anne Enright and Claire Keegan are only some of the many Irish women writers who have made lasting contributions to the genre of the modern short story, yet their achievements have often been marginalized in literary histories which typically define the Irish short story in terms of its oral heritage, nationalist concerns, rural realism and outsider hero. Through a detailed investigation of the short fiction of fifteen prominent writers, this study aims to open up this critical conceptualization of the Irish short story to the formal properties and thematic concerns women writers bring to the genre. What stands out in thematic terms is an abiding interest in human relations whether of love the family or the larger community In formal terms this book traces the overall development of the Irish short story highlighting both the lines of influence that connect these writers and the specific use each individual author makes of the short story form Dissertation Abstracts International ,2001

Moral Systems and the Evolution of Human Rights Bruce K. Friesen,2014-10-27 This volume offers a comprehensible account of the development and evolution of moral systems It seeks to answer the following questions If morals are eternal and unchanging why have the world s dominant religious moral systems been around for no more than a mere six thousand of the two hundred thousand years of modern human existence What explains the many and varied moral systems across the globe today How can we account for the significant change in moral values in one place in less than 100 years time Using examples from classical civilizations the book demonstrates how increasing diversity compromises a moral system s ability to account for and integrate larger populations into a single social unit This environmental stress is not relieved until a broader more abstract moral system is adopted by a social system This new system provides a sense of belonging and purpose for more people motivating them to engage in prosocial or moral acts and refrain from socially disruptive selfish acts The current human rights paradigm is the world s first universal indigenous moral system Because moral systems can be expected to continue to evolve this book points to current boundaries of the human rights paradigm and where the next major moral revolution might emerge Southern Exposure ,1996 High Performance ,1987 Choreography Joseph Gonzales (Choreographer),2004
