,1904 Society and Sentiment Mark Salber Phillips,2000-05-01 A deepening interest in both social and interior experience was a distinguishing feature of the cultural life of eighteenth century Britain influencing writers in all genres from fiction to philosophy. Focusing on this interplay of ideas and genres Mark Phillips explores the ways in which writers and readers of history, memoir, biography and related literatures responded to the social and sentimental concerns of a modern commercial society. He shows that the writing of history which once concentrated exclusively on political events widened its horizons in ways that often paralleled better known developments in the contemporary novel. Ultimately Phillips proposes a new model for the study of historiographical narrative. Countering topological readings identified with Hayden White he offers a more historically nuanced approach that stresses questions of genre and reception as a guide to understanding how narratives were reshaped by new audiences and new social needs. Drawing inspiration from both the social analysis of the Scottish Enlightenment and the sentimental aesthetics of the contemporary novel historical writing began to explore the areas of social experience and private life for which there was no place in classical historiography. The consequence Phillips argues was a significant reframing of historical thought that expressed itself through new themes including the histories of commerce, manners, literature and women and through some lively experiments in narrative form. This book offers a rich picture of historiography that will interest students of history and fiction alike.

Reports of Cases Determined in the Courts of Appeal of the State of California, 1923 Motherrest Kristen Iskandrian, 2016-07-05

Marrying the sharp insights of Jenny Offill with the dark humor of Maria Semple, Motherrest is an inventive and moving coming of age novel that captures the pain of fractured family life, the heat of new love and the particular magic of the female friendship all through the lens of a fraying daughter-mother bond. It's the early 1990s and Agnes is running out of people she can count on. A new college student, she is caught between the broken home she leaves behind and the wilderness of campus life. What she needs most is her mother, who has seemingly disappeared, and her brother, who left the family tragically a few years prior. As Agnes falls into new romance, mines female friendships for intimacy and struggles to find her footing, she writes letters to her mother, both to conjure a closeness they never had and to try to translate her experiences to herself. When she finds out she is pregnant, Agnes begins to contend with what it means to be a mother and, in some ways, what it means to be your own mother.
