Oral History Collection, California State University, Fullerton Shirley E. Stephenson, 1985 California State University, Fullerton Richard M. Nixon Oral History Collection California State University, Fullerton, 1978 California State Archives State Government Oral History Program, Interviews in this series were undertaken by the UCLA Oral History Program under the auspices of the California State Archives and in conjunction with the California State University Fullerton Oral History Program Addendum to the 1985 Catalog Shirley E. Stephenson, 1991 The California State Railroad Museum Foundation Oral History Project Amanda Berkson-Brand, 2015 The California State Railroad Museum Foundation CSRMF emerged out of a vast network of docents fundraisers state workers and interested citizens involved in the 1976 opening of the California State Railroad Museum in Sacramento California The California State Railroad Museum Foundation Oral History Project interviewed nine influential founders of the CSRMF gathering their historical recollections for use by the foundation as an archival oral history collection Diverse sources were used in conducting these interviews and compiling the history of both the Museum and Foundation including published and unpublished secondary and primary source materials located at the CSRMF library the Sacramento State Library and from the interviewees themselves The interviews and transcripts will be used by the CSRMF to better understand the museum and the foundation s creation and will serve as the basis for oral histories conducted on behalf of the foundation in the future California State University Fullerton, Japanese-American oral history Collection, 1977 Oral History Collections Ruth McMullin, 1975

Conquests and Historical Identities in California, 1769-1936 Lisbeth Haas, 1995-05-07 Review Study of the Mexican population of Upper California especially around San Juan Capistrano Addresses culture economics and social life Handbook of Latin American Studies v 58 Directory of Oral History Collections Allen Smith, 1988 Solidarity Forever? Jake Alimahomed-Wilson, 2016-03-01 The International Longshore and Warehouse Union ILWU remains one of the best examples of a labor union that traces its origins to radical anti racist principles Today very few mainstream unions remain that were founded on militant radical and anti racist principles The ILWU remains the strongest port union in the United States and its members are among the highest paid blue collar union workers in the world Drawing on in depth interviews archival oral histories research and ethnographic observation Solidarity Forever highlights the struggle of a key group of Black and women leaders who fought for racial and gender equality in the ports of Southern California The book argues that institutional and cultural forms of racial and gender inequality are embedded within US trade union locals leading to the following deleterious consequences for unions 1 a proliferation of internal discrimination lawsuits within unions which can cost the union International or union local potentially millions of dollars in legal fees and financial settlements thereby redistributing precious financial resources that could be spent on key activities related to making unions stronger from outside attacks 2 an erosion of trust and solidarity among workers the key values of any successful union which ultimately undermines the radical democratic potential of unions and rank and file participation in union politics and 3 the undermining of workers of color and women workers as full and equal participants in the labor movement The future of organized labor in the United States could very well be determined by the ability of the labor movement and labor unions in particular to listen to those workers who have been relegated to the margins of the global economy workers of color immigrant workers women workers and all workers in the Global South Family Oral History Across the World Mary Louise Contini

Gordon,2023-11-30 Family Oral History Across the World presents a process for memorializing family histories bringing together established oral history standards exploratory research and narrative data analysis Based on and using a prequestionnaire and over 40 recorded interviews with people from across six continents the analysis system used in the book presents material from these interviews that brings alive the experience of the family history journey One of the guiding principles is to encourage readers to interview family members but also others outside the family unit and to produce a family history in whatever format works The book illustrates this through the inclusion of many unusual formats and stories uncovered The book is divided into a number of themes that emerged through the analysis of numerical questionnaire and narrative interview data Parts I II and III cover changing family demography case studies and factors such as memory emotion and ethics Part IV offers a pliable process and practice guide with input and examples from interviews It also discusses developing approaches to presenting oral histories from both oral historians and other interviewers and writers such as journalists With case studies as well as example guidelines and templates this volume is ideal both for academics interested in family history as well as professional genealogists and families themselves A Guide to the Oral History
