Ordinary Cities Between Modernity And Development:

Ordinary Cities Jennifer Robinson, 2013-07-04 With the urbanization of the world's population proceeding apace and the equally rapid urbanization of poverty urban theory has an urgent challenge to meet if it is to remain relevant to the majority of cities and their populations many of which are outside the West. This groundbreaking book establishes a new framework for urban development. It makes the argument that all cities are best understood as ordinary and crosses the longstanding divide in urban scholarship and urban policy between Western and other cities especially those labelled Third World. It considers the two framing axes of urban modernity and development and argues that if cities are to be imagined in equitable and creative ways urban theory must overcome these axes with their Western bias and that resources must become at least as cosmopolitan as cities themselves. Tracking paths across previously separate literatures and debates this innovative book a postcolonial critique of urban studies traces the outlines of a cosmopolitan approach to cities drawing on evidence from Rio, Johannesburg, Lusaka and Kuala Lumpur. Key urban scholars and debates from Simmel, Benjamin and the Chicago School to Global and World Cities theories are explored together with anthropological and developmentalist accounts of poorer cities. Offering an alternative approach Ordinary Cities skilfully brings together theories of urban development for students and researchers of urban studies geography and development.

and Indonesian Vernacular Architecture Yulia Nurliani Lukito, 2015-10-16 In her research Yulia Nurliani Lukito analyses modernity and the construction of culture by the authorities using the images of Indonesian vernacular architecture presented at three different sites and times. She argues that modernity is not solely constructed by the authorities rather it is an ongoing process modified by visitors of exhibitions. Pasar Gambir was a laboratory of modernity for the colony and an important stage in modernizing and negotiating cultural and social conditions in the colony. The Dutch Pavilion at the 1931 colonial exhibition became a moment when the Indies' heritages played a role in marking colonial territory. Modern ethnographic park of Taman Mini gives a way to the making of an official authentic culture and suppresses the previous Dutch construction of the Indies' culture.

Writing Windhoek Ellison Tjirera, 2025-10-01 Small cities have something to offer in terms of theoretical resources and renewing our understanding of urban life. In other words all cities do matter and are therefore worthy of drawing from. Condemning insignificant cities to oblivion is a travesty that will leave urban studies poorer. Importantly no city is reducible to one register in the representation of its essence. In Writing Windhoek Ellison Tjirera makes an attempt to revivify the Capital city of Namibia and treat it as an idea meriting a closer examination and reflection. In illuminating the essence of Windhoek's cityness this book traces its history of spatial segregation an imprint that continues to define contemporary city life. The cultural memory of Windhoek is analysed as a way of accessing what is otherwise a not so obvious strand through which to understand a city that has escaped a sustained scholarly rendition. In his further layering of the city Tjirera provides a portrait of Windhoek through urban fantasies regimes of the legal and how migration is implicated in shaping social heterogeneity and concatenations of various urban rhythms      Cities and Metaphors Somaiyeh Falahat,2018-04-19 Introducing a new concept of urban space Cities and Metaphors encourages a theoretical realignment of how the city is experienced thought and discussed In the context of Islamic city studies relying on reasoning and rational thinking has reduced descriptive vivid features of the urban space into a generic scientific framework Phenomenological characteristics have consequently been ignored rather than integrated into theoretical components The book argues that this results from a lack of appropriate conceptual vocabulary in our global body of scholarly literature It challenges existing theories introduces and applies the concept of Hezar tu a thousand insides to rethink the spaces in historic cores of Fez Isfahan and Tunis This tool constructs a staging post towards a different articulation of urban space based on spatial physical virtual symbolic and social edges and thresholds nodes of sociospatial relationships zones of containment state of intermediacy and thus a logic of ambiguity rather than determinacy Presenting alternative narrations of paths through sequential discovery of spaces this book brings the sensual features of urban space into the focus The book finally shows that concepts derived from local contexts enable us to tailor our methods and theoretical structures to the idiosyncrasies of each city while retaining the global commonalities of all Hence in broader terms it contributes to a growing awareness that urban studies should be more inclusive by bringing the diverse global contexts of cities into the body of our urban knowledge

This book focuses on spatial concerns and urban imaginaries in his works challenging the dominant metropolitan discourse on cities under globalization. Rushdie's works prominently feature cities of the Global South while they explore in great detail the figure of the postcolonial migrant. This book analyses the dynamic cities described in Midnight's Children 1981, The Satanic Verses 1988, The Moor's Last Sigh 1995, and The Ground Beneath Her Feet 1999, and discusses the idea of the global urban. It examines how these works explore alternative geo histories, the idea of global homes and the idea of cities as sites of conflict and contestation where histories and memories are embedded and reimagined. This book will be useful for scholars and researchers of literature, urban studies, cultural studies, postcolonial studies, sociology, Indian English and South Asian literature.     The City Reader Richard T. Bounding the Mekong Jim Glassman,2010-09-16 Transnational economic integration has been described by globalization boosters as a rising tide that will lift all boats an opportunity for all participants to achieve greater prosperity through a combination of political cooperation and capitalist economic competition The Asian Development Bank ADB has championed such rhetoric in promoting the integration of China Southeast Asia s formerly socialist states and Thailand into a regional project called the Greater Mekong Subregion GMS But while the GMS project is in fact hastening regional economic integration Jim Glassman shows that the approach belies the ADB s idealized description of win win outcomes The process of actually existing globalization in the GMS does provide varied opportunities for different actors but it is less a rising tide that lifts all boats than an uneven flood of transnational capitalist development whose outcomes are determined by intense class struggles market competition and regulatory battles Glassman makes the case for adopting a class based approach to analysis of GMS development regionalization and actually existing globalization First he analyzes the interests and actions of various Thai participants in GMS development then the roles of different Chinese actors in GMS integration He next provides two cases illustrating the serious limits of any notion that GMS integration is a relatively egalitarian process Laos participation in GMS development and the role of migrant Burmese workers in the production of the GMS He finds that Burmese migrant workers dam displaced Chinese and Laotian villagers and economically stressed Thai farmers and small businesses are relative losers compared to the powerful business interests that shape GMS integration from locations like Bangkok and Kunming as well as key sites outside the GMS like Beijing Singapore and Tokyo The final chapter blends geographical historical analysis with an assessment of uneven development and actually existing globalization in the GMS Cogent and persuasive Bounding the Mekong will attract attention from the growing number of scholars analyzing globalization neoliberalism regionalization and multiple scales of governance It is suitable for graduate courses in geography political science and sociology as well as courses with a regional focus Istanbul, Open City A.
