Bureaucratic Rivalry in Mangrove Forest Policy and Management Md. Faisal Abedin Khan, 2021-10-18 Since the Earth Summit of 1992 the concept of sustainable development has gained rapid interest in global policy debate which incurs effective policy solutions in any forest management Mangroves are coastal forests commonly found in the tropics and subtropics where they fulfil many necessary functions from the productive protective and social points of view A large number of multidisciplinary actors ranging from international to local level are actively engaged with perceived issues concentrated on mangrove forest policies irrespective of any geographical location Nonetheless given their financial technical and expertise related means the active actors are expected to have a considerable degree of conflicts and competition showing formal and informal influences over policy issues Moreover by allocating financial means and sub delegating authoritative power actors at multiple jurisdictions may gain power and serve interests in mangrove governance Hence the study attempts to describe and explain the bureaucratic rivalry among the actors in mangrove forest policy and management at the meta level In doing so the author employed the Sundarbans of Bangladesh the world's largest contiguous tract of mangrove forest as an illustrative case in policy formulation and implementation

Researching Development NGOs Susannah Pickering-Saqqa, 2023-05-23 This book offers a critical insight into how the study of NGOs can be more theoretically grounded and methodologically creative The role of NGOs in global development has been the focus of considerable research and scholarship for the last four decades More recently scholars and NGO practitioners have begun to explore their relationships and how research can better inform practice and vice versa This book addresses questions arising from such research including how different theoretical perspectives can be applied to the study of NGOs what kinds of data can be used when trying to better understand NGOs and what methods can be used in studying NGOs Rather than evaluating the impact of NGO work this is a book about how researchers and practitioners can better understand what NGOs do and how they operate Bringing together work from a range of NGO researchers working across diverse disciplines and at varied stages of their academic careers the collection is supported by recent case studies in the field as well as dilemma boxes and discussion questions in every chapter As such Researching Development NGOs is an essential resource for postgraduate students of Research Methods in Development Studies NGOs and Development Management as well as practitioners wanting to find out more about the sector

Rebalancing Public Partnership John Brothers, 2016-03-03 In the US as in many other Western economies federal and state government is working to become more involved with the nonprofit sector a sector in which many of the organizations are singularly ill prepared and strategically unaligned to fulfill the new role that is being asked of them Based on his original research John Brothers brings together leading thought leaders from the United States and around the world by exploring the prevailing attitudes and perceptions of the nonprofit sector towards government and vice versa and provides advice and direction to help both sides of the equation towards effective collaborative working The main themes cover the nature and implications of regulatory reform on the sector and how non government organizations should reengineer their practices There are also chapters on some of the hot button areas of government contracting and political advocacy The text includes best practice examples case studies as well as tools and templates from across the sectors Both sides of this emerging partnership need fast track education on each other s capabilities constraints and working practice Dr Brothers contributors provide some very valuable perspectives and insights that should inform and direct this process The Four C's of

NGO-government Relations Adil Najam, 2000 Africa and the Global Financial Crisis Reuben Adeolu Alabi, 2011 In this volume of the African Development Perspectives Yearbook series the Research Group on African Development Perspectives investigates the impact of the Global Financial Crisis GFC on economic reform processes in Africa The analysis is structured in such a way so as to reflect the opportunities and dangers of policy reversals in the face of the GFC The impact of the crisis on different types and forms of governance in the region is considered The first question is therefore which macro economic policy instruments have to be applied in order to overcome the crisis and to continue with sustainable development The second question is how the GFC has affected Africa s external economic relations and if the path of opening up to the world markets is to be continued The third question raised is how the crisis has affected social cohesion impacted poverty alleviation strategies and the achievement of Millennium Development Goals MDGs All these questions are discussed in the various contributions which comprise general studies and country case studies The book also looks into the role of international financial institutions during and after the crisis Series African Development Perspectives Yearbook Vol 15

Catton, 2002 Catton treats the Diem government on its own terms rather than as an appendage of American policy Focusing on the decade from Dien Bien Phu to Diem's assassination in 1963 he examines the Vietnamese leader's nation building and reform efforts particularly his Strategic Hamlet Program which sought to separate guerrilla insurgents from the peasantry and build grassroots support for his regime Catton's evaluation of the collapse of that program offers fresh insights into both Diem's limitations as a leader and the ideological and organizational weaknesses of his government while his assessment of the evolution of Washington's relations with Saigon provides new insight into America's growing involvement in the Vietnamese civil war Yearbook of International Organizations 2013-2014 (Volumes 1a-1b)
