Logistics management operationalised in a healthcare context Malin

Wiger,2018-05-14 Healthcare improvements is constantly relevant and an important topic Healthcare is frequently being called upon to be more cost efficient and still fulfil demands regarding waiting times quality and availability Experience from structural changes in other contexts gives reason to be positive about the potential for logistics improvements in the healthcare sector as well From a logistics perspective patients pass different care functions units organisations and health facilities It is assumed that logistics management knowledge applied in healthcare can lead to lower costs shorter waiting times better patient service shorter treatment times and increased capacity This dissertation therefore presents an exploration of how logistics management theories can be operationalised in a healthcare context to understand care chain effectiveness Theoretically the operationalisation is done by systems theory creating compatibility between logistics management theories and the healthcare context As a first step features for a logistics system forms features for achieving care chain effectiveness High care chain effectiveness is thus a desired condition and the care delivery system is the tool to achieve it As the final step in the operationalisation the features for care chain effectiveness are in turn used to analyse today s practices Empirically the research is based on qualitative data from a single case study with multiple units of analysis It includes four care units at one of Sweden s university hospitals where the data is gathered through interviews insight into management systems and document analysis One of the main results is the 21 areas identified for analysing today s practices by means of features for care chain effectiveness Another main result is the four important concepts revealed through the operationalisation Lead time the episode of care from order to delivery as the amount of time for patient cases between first contact with healthcare and the last Patient order fulfilment fulfilment of patients needs broken down into several smaller steps performed over time within different care units in one or several organisations consisting of five sub processes order handling diagnosis treatment follow up and discharge True demand patients needs that is to be met and thus sets what care to deliver i e the production plan and the subordinate resource plan System boundaries defines which care units to include when focusing on the care delivery system s performance as a whole and should be more important than the performance and productivity of each individual care unit A number of direct suggestions for care chain improvement can also be found in the concluding remarks for example that objectives linked to economic influx or penalty narrow the system and that lead time data on an aggregated level is needed to cover episodes of care The theoretical contribution of the dissertation is to the field of logistics management through the methodological development of using these theories in a new context The managerial contribution is to healthcare managers through providing opportunities to improve care chains primarily by means of a greater understanding of care delivery systems     Managed Care Services Nancy W. Veeder,Wilma

Peebles-Wilkins,2000-12-07 Managed Care Services explores the complexities of managed health and behavioral health care systems in relation to policy program and research issues It focuses on the dramatic consequences of the transformation of health care delivery from an essential social good to a commodity totally dependent on the marketplace The book begins with a foreword by James J Callahan Jr a leading authority in the field and includes an interdisciplinary group of authors who address multiple fields of practice A common theme throughout the book is the inadequacy of service for such high risk groups as children the elderly the mentally ill the disabled the chronically ill substance abusers and minorities of color These at risk groups include but are not limited to the vast numbers of un and underinsured people in the United States Specific topics covered in the book include cost of access to care parity of behavioral health care services reimbursement health services utilization patterns education of health care professionals and professional autonomy care management and ethical issues arising from the structure of managed care administrative and organizational systems The importance of research especially program outcome assessments is also emphasized Managed Care Services provide a broad overview of macro managed care issues and is an invaluable resource for students and professionals interested in the intersection of social work and health care     Emerging Systems in Long-Term Care Paul R. Katz, MD,Robert L. Kane, MD,Mathy Mezey, EdD, RN, FAAN,2004-01-01 The fourth volume in the prestigious Advances in Long Term Care Series continues to address the challenges of long term care with innovation and practical insight Highlighting the dynamic nature of long term care the authors share their practical insight and explore issues linked to the cost and process of delivering care to an increasing number of clients Topics include transitions between acute and long term care geriatric day hospitals subacute care and more Contributors from a range of gerontologic disciplines use new research as bases to develop care solutions under the mandates of managed care
