Mutation Promotion Transformation I:

Assessment of Risk from Low-Level Exposure to Radiation and Chemicals A. D. Woodhead, 2013-11-21 The present workshop had its origins in discussions among Alexander Hollaender Oddvar Nygaard Donald Borg Richard Setlow and Victor Bond on the need for a symposium that would deal with a broad spectrum of pressing subjects related to the physics chemistry and biological actions of ionizing radiations and the theoretical and practical problems of risk assessment It soon became apparent that the spectrum of subjects considered was too broad for the desired depth of coverage in fact it seemed unlikely that the conference participants would have the background knowledge to span the gamut Therefore two separate meetings were decided upon the first of which Comparison of Mechanisms of Carcinogenesis by Radiation and Chemical Agents was held at the National Bureau of Standards Gaithersburg on December 6 7 1983 The meeting was sponsored by the NCI The second meeting has emerged as the present workshop at Brookhaven National Laboratory An interface between the two conferences has been provided by Michael Fry and Donald Borg who have summarized the salient points emanating from the NCI Symposium We intended that the first conference should focus on the basic mechanisms of radiation and chemical carcinogenesis while the second the present meeting would emphasize exposure response relationships particularly the theoretical and practical similarities and differences between exposure to chemical carcinogens compared to exposure to ionizing radiation

Mutation, Promotion and Transformation in Vitro, 1981 Consists of the proceedings of international conference and symposia Journal of the National Cancer Institute, 1992 Toxicology of Metals, Volume I Louis W. Chang, 2023-07-28 This volume offers the most comprehensive presentation available on metal toxicology It discusses not only metals but also the toxic endpoints such as neurotoxicity renal toxicity and cancer induction Chapters are written by experts in their respective fields focusing on carcinogenesis and human exposures and highlighting the major aspects and issues of toxicity in general Physical and Chemical Mechanisms in Molecular Radiation Biology William A. Glass, Matesh N. Varma, 2012-12-06 The fundamental understanding of the production of biological effects by ionizing radiation may well be one of the most important scientific objectives of mankind such understanding could lead to the effective and safe utilization of the nuclear energy option In addition this knowledge will be of immense value in such diverse fields as radiation therapy and diagnosis and in the space program To achieve the above stated objective the U S Department of Energy DOE and its predecessors embarked upon a fundamental interdisciplinary research program some 35 years ago A critical component of this program is the Radiological and Chemical Physics Program RCPP When the RCPP was established there was very little basic knowledge in the fields of physics chemistry and biology that could be directly applied to understanding the effects of radiation on biological systems Progress of the RCPP program in its first 15 years was documented in the proceedings of a conference held at Airlie Virginia in 1972 At this conference it was clear that considerable progress had been made in research on the physical and chemical processes in well characterized systems that could be used to understand biological effects During this period of time most physical knowledge was obtained for the gas phase because the technology and instrumentation had not progressed to the point that measurements could be made in liquids more characteristic of biological materials    Methods for Estimating Risk of Chemical Injury Scientific Group on Methodologies for the Safety Evaluation of Chemicals, International Council of Scientific Unions. Scientific Committee on Problems of the Environment, 1985 This book provides a review and evaluation of existing methods for estimation and quantification of risks associated with chemical exposure Dealing first with the assessment of probable damage to the human organism the book discusses the basic mechanisms of mutagenesis and carcinogenesis the validity of long term whole animal studies as predictors of human response and the use of epidemiology statistics and mathematical modelling in developing quantitative risk estimation The same approach is adopted for non human biota and ecosystems including a state of the art assessment of work in single species tests multispecies tests and ecotoxicological modelling Where suitable methods are not available inadequacies are identified and suggestions made for the improvement and development of more appropriate procedures to fill them    Proceedings of the American Philosophical Society Held at Philadelphia for Promoting Useful Knowledge American Philosophical Society, 1896    Philosophy of Cancer Marta Bertolaso, 2016-08-24

Since the 1970s the origin of cancer is being explored from the point of view of the Somatic Mutation Theory SMT focusing on genetic mutations and clonal expansion of somatic cells As cancer research expanded in several directions the dominant focus on cells remained steady but the classes of genes and the kinds of extra genetic factors that were shown to have causal relevance in the onset of cancer multiplied The wild heterogeneity of cancer related mutations and phenotypes along with the increasing complication of models led to an oscillation between the hectic search of the few key factors that cause cancer and the discouragement in face of a seeming endless complexity To tame this complexity cancer research started to avail itself of the tools that were being developed by Systems Biology At the same time anti reductionist voices began claiming that cancer research was stuck in a sterile research paradigm This alternative discourse even gave birth to an alternative theory the Tissue Organization Field Theory TOFT A deeper philosophical analysis shows limits and possibilities of reductionist and anti reductionist positions and of their polarization This book demonstrates that a radical philosophical reflection is necessary to drive cancer research out of its impasses At the very least this will be a reflection on the assumptions of different kinds of cancer research on the implications of what cancer research has been discovering over 40 years and more on a view of scientific practice that is most able to make sense of the cognitive and social conflicts that are seen in the scientific community and in its results and finally on the nature of living entities with which we entertain this fascinating epistemological dance that we call scientific research The proposed Dynamic and Relational View of carcinogenesis is a starting point in all these directions    Proceedings of the American Philosophical Society Held at Philadelphia for Promoting Useful Knowledge , 1896    1900 (Japan), 1900    Mechanisms of Tumor
