Mathematical Methods In Social Science:

Mathematical Methods in Social Science David J. Bartholomew, 1981 Mathematical Methods in Social Science David J. Bartholomew, 1981 Mathematical Models in the Social Sciences John G. Kemeny, James Laurie Snell, 1962

Social Science Methodology John Gerring, 2001-09-10 This book offers a one volume introduction to social science methodology relevant to the disciplines of anthropology economics history political science psychology and sociology It is written for beginning students long time practitioners and methodologists and applies to work conducted in qualitative and quantitative styles It synthesizes the vast and diverse field of methodology in a way that is clear concise and comprehensive While offering a handy overview of the subject the book is also an argument about how we should conceptualize methodological problems Tasks and criteria the author argues not fixed rules of procedure best describe the search for methodological adequacy Thinking about methodology through this lens provides a new framework for understanding work in the social sciences Mathematical Methods in Economics and Social Choice Norman Schofield, 2013-10-11 In recent years the usual optimization techniques which have proved so useful in microeconomic theory have been extended to incorporate more powerful topological and differential methods and these methods have led to new results on the qualitative behavior of general economic and political systems These developments have necessarily resulted in an increase in the degree of formalism in the publications in the academic journals This formalism can often deter graduate students The progression of ideas presented in this book will familiarize the student with the geometric concepts underlying these topological methods and as a result make mathematical economics general equilibrium theory and social choice theory more accessible The SAGE Handbook of the Philosophy of Social Sciences Ian C Jarvie, Jesus Zamora-Bonilla, 2011-03-14 In this exciting Handbook Ian Jarvie and Jesus Zamora Bonilla have put together a wide ranging and authoritative overview of the main philosophical currents and traditions at work in the social sciences today Starting with the history of social scientific thought this Handbook sets out to explore that core fundamentals of social science practice from issues of ontology and epistemology to issues of practical method Along the way it investigates such notions as paradigm empiricism postmodernism naturalism language agency power culture and causality Mathematical Methods of the Social Sciences David Berlinski, 1975 Felix Kaufmann's Theory and Method in the Social Sciences Robert S. Cohen, Ingeborg K. Helling, 2014-05-19 This volume contains the English translation of Felix Kaufmann's 1895 1945 main work Methodenlehre der Sozialwissenschaften 1936 In this book Kaufmann develops a general theory of knowledge of the social sciences in his role as a cross border commuter between Husserl's phenomenology Kelsen's pure theory of law and the logical positivism of the Vienna Circle This multilayered inquiry connects the value oriented reflections of a general philosophy of science with the specificity of the methods and theories of the social sciences as opposed to abstract natural science and psychology The core focus of the study is the attempt to elucidate how and under what conditions scientific knowledge about social facts empirically justified and theoretically embedded can be obtained The empirical basis of knowledge within the social sciences forms a phenomenological concept of experience According to Kaufmann this concept of experience exhibits a complex structure Within the meaning interpretation of human action as the core of knowledge in the social sciences this structure reaches out across the isolated act of verification toward the synthesis of external and internal experiences The book opens with a detailed and useful introduction by Ingeborg K Helling which introduces the historical and theoretical background of Kaufmann's study and specifically illuminates his relation to Alfred Schütz and John Dewey Finally it contains interviews with and letters to members of his family colleagues and students

Qualitative Mathematics for the Social Sciences Lee Rudolph, 2013 This book combines psychological and mathematical perspectives to analyse how qualitative mathematics can be used to create models of social and psychological processes

Sociodynamics Wolfgang Weidlich, 2000-08-07 Sociodynamics develops a systematic approach to initiating and evaluating mathematical models for a broad class of collective dynamic social processes in different sectors of society It combines appropriate mathematical methods with concepts from social science presenting a comprehensive and up to date coverage of the field The book characterizes the hierarchies of complex structures in nature and society Then universally applicable methods originating in statistical physics non linear dynamics and synergetics are combined with concepts of social science The applications to sociology include a model for collective political opinion formation and a model describing the interaction rise and decline of social groups as well as a study of migratory patterns in populations

Introduction to the Social Sciences (RLE Social Theory) Maurice Duverger, 2020-09-10 Professor Duverger at last provides the student with an overall view of the methodology of the social sciences He briefly traces the origin of the notion of a social science showing how it emerged from social philosophy Its essential elements and pre conditions are described the splintering of social science into specialist disciplines is explained and the need for a general sociology confirmed The techniques of observation used by social scientists are dealt with in some detail and the unity of the social sciences is illustrated by examples of the universal application of these techniques Documentary evidence in its various forms are described along with the basic analytical techniques including quantitative methods and content analysis Other methods of gathering information through polls interviews attitude scales and participant observation are all described Professor Duverger brings together the different kinds of analysis used to assess the information thus gathered Arguing that observing and theorizing are not two different stages or levels of research he examines the practical value and difficulties of general sociological theories partial theories and models and working hypotheses He both describes and assesses the limitations of experiment and the scope of comparative methods in the social sciences He then gives elementary instructions for using and assessing the value of mathematical techniques The possibilities of presenting social phenomena through graphs and charts are also explored There are useful book lists and diagrams
