Other Modernities Lisa Rofel, 1999-03-01 In this analysis of three generations of women in a Chinese silk factory Lisa Rofel brilliantly interweaves the intimate details of her observations with a broad ranging critique of the meaning of modernity in a postmodern age The author based her study at a silk factory in the city of Hangzhou in eastern China She compares the lives of three generations of women workers those who entered the factory right around the Communist revolution in 1949 those who were youths during the Cultural Revolution of the 1970s and those who have come of age in the Deng era Exploring attitudes toward work marriage society and culture she convincingly connects the changing meanings of the modern in official discourse to the stories women tell about themselves and what they make of their lives One of the first studies to take up theoretically sophisticated issues about gender modernity and power based on a solid ethnographic ground this much needed cross generational study will be a model for future anthropological work around the world Cultural terms of theorizing knowledge production and social justice engagement The SAGE Handbook of Architectural Theory C. Greig Crysler, Stephen Cairns, Hilde Heynen, 2012-01-10 The SAGE Handbook of Architectural Theory documents and builds upon some of the most innovative developments in architectural theory over the last two decades Bringing into dialogue a range of geographically institutionally and historically competing positions the book examines and explores parallel debates in related fields The book is divided into eight sections Power Difference Embodiment Aesthetics Pleasure Excess Nation Spectacle Modernity History Memory Tradition Design Practice Production Technology Science Virtuality Nature Landscape Sustainability City Metropolis Territory Creating openings for future lines of inquiry and establishing the basis for new directions for education research and practice the book organizes itself around specific case studies to provide a critical interpretive and speculative enquiry into the relevant debates in architectural theory A methodical authoritative and comprehensive addition to the literature the Handbook is suitable for academics researchers and practitioners in architecture urban geography cultural studies sociology and geography The Memory of Genocide in Tasmania, 1803-2013 Jesse Shipway, 2016-11-02 This book presents a philosophical history of Tasmania's past and present with a particular focus on the double stories of genocide and modernity On the one hand proponents of modernisation have sought to close the past off from the present concealing the demographic disaster behind less demanding historical narratives and politicised preoccupations such as convictism and environmentalism The second story meanwhile is told by anyone aboriginal or European who has gone to the archive and found the genocidal horrors hidden there This volume blends both stories It describes the dual logics of genocide and modernity in Tasmania and suggests that Tasmanians will not become more realistic about the future until they can admit a full recognition of the colonial genocide that destroyed an entire civilisation not much more than 200 years ago Reflections on Multiple Modernities Dominic Sachsenmaier, S. Shmuel Noah Eisenstadt, Jens Riedel, 2002-01-01 Multiple Modernities is a departure from the classic sociological homogenization theories The edition presents an interdisciplinary discussion of the topic in sociological historical and economic dimensions It explores culturally specific forms of modernity with a focus on China and Europe Caring for Life Kelly Dombroski, 2024-03-12 The transformational possibilities of everyday hygiene and care practices In order to mitigate the worst forecasts of climate change many of us need to make drastic adjustments to how we live and what we consume For Kelly Dombroski these changes must also happen in the home in rethinking routines of care and hygiene that still rely on disposable and plastic products Caring for Life examines the remarkable evolution in Asia Pacific hygiene practices and amplifies the creative work of ordinary people guarding human and more than human life in their everyday practices of care Dombroski develops the concept of guarding life a viewpoint that counters homogenous cultural practices and imposed sanitation standards and instead embraces diverse hygiene practices that are networked across varying wisdoms and bodies She traces how the Chinese diaper free infant toilet training practice of baniao has traveled to Australia and New Zealand and she explores the practice of elimination communication in which babies learn to communicate to their caregivers when they need to eliminate thus removing the need for diapers A mother herself Dombroski conducted ethnographic research while mothering to examine how collectives of mothers draw on Chinese knowledge and their own embodied practices of childcare to create new hybrid forms of infant care Caring for Life is a call to action a theory of change and a fascinating account of the transformational possibilities of care practices It shows how experiments in personal care can lead to collective widespread change ultimately providing a practical and hopeful vision for environmental action Retail e book files for this title are screen reader friendly with images accompanied by short alt text and or extended descriptions
