British Experimental Women's Fiction, 1945—1975 Andrew Radford, Hannah Van Hove, 2021-08-23 This book scrutinizes a range of relatively overlooked post WWII British women writers who sought to demonstrate that narrative prose fiction offered rich possibilities for aesthetic innovation What unites all the primary authors in this volume is a commitment to challenging the tenets of British mimetic realism as a literary and historical phenomenon This collection reassesses how British female novelists operated in relation to transnational vanguard networking clusters debates and tendencies both political and artistic The chapters collected in this volume enquire for example whether there is something fundamentally different or politically dissident about female experimental procedures and perspectives This book also investigates the processes of canon formation asking why in one way or another these authors have been sidelined or misconstrued by recent scholarship Ultimately it seeks to refine a new research archive on mid century British fiction by female novelists at least as diverse as recent and longer established work in the domain of modernist studies

Contemporary Migration Literature in German and English Sandra Vlasta, 2015-10-14 Up until now migration literature has primarily been defined as texts written by migrant authors a definition that has been discussed criticised and even rejected by critics and authors alike Very rarely has migration literature been understood as literature on the topic of migration which is an approach this book adopts by presenting a comparative analysis of contemporary texts on experiences of migration By focusing on specific themes and motifs in selected texts this study suggests that migration literature is a sub genre that exists in both various bodies of literature as well as various languages This book analyses English and German texts by authors such as Monica Ali Dimitr Dinev Anna Kim Timothy Mo Preethi Nair Caryl Phillips Hamid Sadr and Vladimir Vertlib among others

Marginality in the Contemporary British Novel Nicola Allen, 2008-08-08 The Marginal as a concept has become an integral part of the British novel as it stands at the turn of the century Both popular and literary fiction since the mid 1970s has seen an increasing emphasis on the marginal subject This study offers readings of a wide range of contemporary British novels that represent characters or communities at the margin of society Nicola Allen analyses three conceptual categories representing the marginal subject in the contemporary British novel the character of the misfit or outsider the emergence of the grotesque and the rediscovery of previously marginalized narratives such as myth and fantasy This innovative and original monograph focuses on the contention that the contemporary novel of marginality conveys a belief in the socially transformative powers of narrative and suggests that narrative has played a central role in bringing marginal politics and marginal issues to the fore in contemporary Britain

Contemporary Fiction Jago Morrison, 2003 A much needed introduction to the field of contemporary fiction studies Introduces key areas of debate and offers in depth discussions of the most significant texts An ideal guide for those studying contemporary fiction for the first time

Unity in Diversity Revisited? Barbara Korte, Klaus Peter Müller, 1998

Universal Geography Formed Into a New and Entire System; Describing Asia, Africa, Europe,

and America ... John Payne, 1794      Trade and Customs and Excise Revenue of the Commonwealth of Australia Australia. Commonwealth Bureau of Census and Statistics, 1912      London Fiction at the Millennium Claire Allen, 2020-09-28 This book analyses London fiction at the millennium reading it in relation to an exploration of a theoretical positioning beyond the postmodern It explores how a selection of novels can be considered as second wave or post postmodern in light of their borrowing more from mainstream and classical genres as opposed to formally experimental avant garde techniques It considers how writers utilise the cultural capital of London in a process of relocating marginalized subjugated or under represented voices The millennium provides an apt symbolic opportunity to reflect on British fiction and to consider the direction in which contemporary authors are moving As such key novels by Martin Amis Bella Bathurst Bernardine Evaristo Mark Haddon Nick Hornby Hanif Kureishi Andrea Levy Gautam Malkani Timothy Mo Will Self Ali Smith Zadie Smith Rupert Thomson and Sarah Waters are used to explore writing beyond the postmodern In this significant and welcome contribution to the field Allen provides us with a sophisticated detailed and rigorous study of the move in contemporary fiction beyond postmodernism as exemplified by London fiction Nick Hubble Brunel University London UK      The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record ,1918      Essays of British Essayists ,1900      History of Emigration from the United Kingdom to North America, 1763-1912 Stanley Currie Johnson, 1914      Trade and Navigation Canada. Department of National Revenue, 1912      Statistical Register ,1888      Annual Report on Labour Organization in Canada ,1923      British Interests and Activities in Texas, 1838-1846 Ephraim Douglass Adams, 1910      Journal of the British Archaeological Association British Archaeological Association, 1894      Morgan's British Trade Journal and Export Price Current ,1885

Fleur Adcock Janet Wilson, 2007 This study discusses Adcock as a writer who draws on her experiences of dislocation in order to position herself between cultures It relocates her work within the postwar British poetic mainstream by emphasizing that her radically displaced feminized consciousness can be identified as metonymic of national and cultural differences Janet Wilson argues that diasporic voices such as hers which renegotiate boundaries between self and other although originating from white settler colonies like New Zealand now belong to multicultural Britain Her close readings of Adcock s verse in terms of its ironic double vision focus on the blend of classical restraint wit and humour in relation to her complex revaluation of the diasporic imaginary of the exile In arguing that Adcock s personal mythology based on her divided nationality and gendered consciousness separates her from modernist exile writers like James Joyce and her fellow expatriate Katherine Mansfield and aligns her with contemporary transnational figures like the New Zealand writer Janet Frame the Australian born poet Peter Porter and V S Naipaul Wilson claims that hers is a voice for our times BOOK JACKET
