Tryon,2013-11-22

In his treatment of activity measurement in the fields of medicine and psychology Tryon gives us a book that clearly accomplishes the three purposes set out in its preface The reader is definitely encouraged to wrestle with the concepts of behavior and activity in terms of dynamic physical quantities Moreover the reader cannot help but become familiarized with the technology available for performing activity measurements Motivation to use some of this technology is enhanced by the very extensive summary of other people's uses of it provided throughout the book Readers may find the book provocative on a number of levels It is conceptually provocative to those of us struggling with understanding basic issues in the assessment and measurement of behavior It is practically provocative to those of us working with various forms of behavioral difference especially in clinical populations The book provokes because it is essentially an unfinished exploration opening us to numerous pathways that when traveled reveal still more paths to explore In this sense the book should be heuristically useful both in the more traditional empirical sense and in terms of its Stimulation of conceptual discussion      Performance Measurement Institute of Medicine,Board on Health Care Services,Committee on Redesigning Health Insurance Performance Measures, Payment, and Performance Improvement Programs,2006-07-09

Performance Measurement is the first in a new series of an ongoing effort by the Institute of Medicine IOM to improve health care quality Performance Measurement offers a comprehensive review of available measures and introduces a new framework to examine these measures against the six aims of the health care system health care should be safe effective patient centered timely efficient and equitable This new book also addresses the gaps in performance measurement and introduces the need for measures that are longitudinal comprehensive population based and patient centered This book is directed toward all concerned with improving the quality and performance of the nation's health care system in its multiple dimensions and in both the public and private sectors      Core Measurement Needs for Better Care, Better Health, and Lower Costs Institute of Medicine,Roundtable on Value and Science-Driven Health Care,2013-09-30

Health care quality and its affordability have become very pressing issues in the United States All sectors of the country are attempting to push forward initiatives that will improve the health care system as well as the health of the American population in general Despite the economical dedication to health care about 1.5 the system remains uneven and fragmented patient harm is quite common care is often uncoordinated and many more mishaps occur There exists many obstacles to improve the nation's health care system these include the capacity to reliably and consistently measure progress In 2006 the Institute of Medicine IOM established the Roundtable on Value Science Driven Health Care which has since accelerated the development of a learning health system one in which science informatics incentives and culture are aligned to create a continuous learning loop This learning loop would thus help make the health care system better In response the IOM organized a 2 day workshop to explore in depth the core measurement needs for population health health care quality and health care costs The workshop hoped to gain a full understanding of how to improve the nation's measurement capacity to track progress in the health care system Having this knowledge would help the nation get one step closer to the creation of an efficient learning loop The workshop was divided into a series of sessions that focused on different aspects of measurement Core Measurement Needs for Better Care Better Health and Lower Costs Counting What Counts Workshop Summary includes explanations and key details for these sessions Vision Current Measurement Capabilities Specifying the Shape of a Core Metric Set and Implementation The report also features common themes within these areas the workshop agenda and information about those involved
