Measures Of Information And Their Applications:

Measures of Information and Their Applications J. N. Kapur, 1994-12-06 Delves into entropy optimization principles offering new insights into their applications. Novel concepts are illustrated with figures and numerical examples. Also presents applications to ecological sciences. ## Algorithms for a Generalized Multipolar Neutrosophic Soft Set with Information Measures to Solve Medical Diagnoses and Decision-Making Problems

Rana Muhammad Zulqarnain, Harish Garg, Imran Siddique, Rifaqat

Ali, Abdelaziz Alsubie, Nawaf N. Hamadneh, Ilyas Khan, The aim of this paper is to propose the generalized version of the multipolar neutrosophic soft set with operations and basic properties. Here we define the AND OR Truth Favorite and False Favorite operators along with their properties. Also we define the necessity and possibility of operations for them. Later on to extend it to solve the decision making problems we define some information measures such as distance similarity and correlation coefficient for the generalized multipolar neutrosophic soft set. Several desirable properties and their relationship between them are derived. Finally based on these information measures a decision making algorithm is stated under the neutrosophic environment to tackle the uncertain and vague information.

Comparative Analysis of Interim Measures - Interim Remedies (England & Wales) v Preservation Measures (China) Vivek Jain, Thomas Macey-Dare, Shengnan

Jia, 2022-05-30 Interim remedies and provisional measures are a critical component of civil commercial litigation and arbitration. The objective of this book is to set out not just the law and practice in relation to the primary interim remedies and preservation measures available in England Wales and China but also to provide the comparative analysis between the two jurisdictions concerning these interim measures. The system for interim remedies in England Wales is well established but preservation measures in China are a work in progress and many differences exist between the two legal systems both in terms of theory and practice. For example China does not recognise the general concept of interim measures if looked at from the English law point of view though it does have similar concepts of Property preservation, evidence preservation and behaviour preservation. China has recently adopted Chinese Civil Code 2020 and in writing this book the authors have incorporated all the relevant elements from the new Code. There is no equivalent of Practice Directions in China and this book provides much needed clarity on this area drawing together the law and guidance which is presently scattered across numerous local courts in the different provinces. This is an important book that is likely to have a significant impact on existing scholarship regarding interim remedies in England Wales and China and be of interest of all parties involved in cross border litigation. Its readership will include industry professionals, academics, policy makers and government officials.

Measures of Information and Their Applications to Various Disciplines O.K. Belwal, 2013 The present book provides the applications of uncertain measures to the field of queueing theory for measuring variations in steady and non steady birth death process. Moreover we have given the applications of probabilistic measures by studying the maximum entropy principle Another field of interest is the theory of coding which deals with probability distributions only but we have extended the idea to fuzzy distributions by proving new fuzzy coding theorems corresponding to the well known measures of weighted fuzzy entropy The book also deals with the applications of measures of entropy for the study of contingency tables and thus provides applications to the field of statistics I sincerely hope that the present volume of the book will be useful to all those interested in information measures and their applications in a variety of disciplines Moreover it will be a source of inspiration and encouragement to research scholars and teachers to discourse the subject for the discovery of new insights
