Mebages From The Spirit World:

Witchcraft, Magic and Superstition in England, 1640-70 Frederick Valletta, 2017-03-02 This study examines the relationship between elite and popular beliefs in witchcraft magic and superstition in England analyzing such beliefs against the background of political religious and social upheaval characteristic of the Civil War Interregnum and Restoration periods Belief in witchcraft received new impulses because of the general ferment of religious ideas and the tendency of participants in the Civil Wars to resort to imagery drawn from beliefs about the devil and witches or to use portents to argue for the wrongs of their opponents Throughout the work the author stresses that deeply held superstitions were fundamental to belief in witches the devil ghosts apparitions and supernatural healing Despite the fact that popular superstitions were often condemned it was recognized that their propaganda value was too useful to ignore A host of pamphlets and treatises were published during this period which unashamedly incorporated such beliefs Valletta here explores the manner in which political and religious authorities somewhat cynically used demonic imagery and language to discredit their opponents and to manipulate popular opinion

Deforming American Political Thought Michael J. Shapiro, 2016-02-19 Deforming American Political Thought offers an alternative to the dominant American historical imagination treating issues that range from the nature of Thomas Jefferson's vision of an egalitarian nation to the persistence of racial inequality Presenting multifaceted arguments that transcend the myopic scope of traditional political discourses Michael J Shapiro summons disparate disciplines and genres architecture crime stories novels films and jazz blues music among others to provide approaches to the comprehension of diverse facets of American political thought from the founding to the present The book's various investigations disclose that there have always been dissenting voices articulated in diverse genres of expression that cast doubt on the moral purpose and exceptionalism of the American mind This highly anticipated updated second edition features a preface focusing on aesthetic theory and the contributions of artistic genres for political analysis and a completely new chapter on critical thinking about the US western and urban encounters afforded by the two HBO series Deadwood and The Wire respectively

The Works of Francis Bacon ... Lord High Chancellor of England Francis Bacon, 1819 The Wandering Nicholas Frost, 2021-12-09 Distanced from partner Marsha and her daughter Matty by physical and psychic wanderings into geographic places historical scenes other lives the narrator Blank dances solo with his unavoidable other claiming to alert her to opaque parts of his nature and to her own on clinging and running victim and perpetrator freedom and fundamentalism splitting and taking responsibility and on Samsara the trivial endless recurrence The Wandering is Blank's ruminating travelogue tainted love diary mythic karmic romance meditation on being and becoming conscience and commitment The Wandering presents a spiritual seeker who wants to transcend his own ego and who while escaping his domineering girlfriend Marsha in Jungian terms a key anima figure seeks to highlight her complexes by composing for her a striking variety of factual imaginative geographic and metaphysical ruminations Predictably the more he evades the more he is forced to engage with his own pretensions Marsha a failed soldier alienated from her father is gripped by the animus as perpetrator victim complex to be enacted on Blank and other failed men in her life Thereby Blank addresses the anarchic teen daughter Matty who in a fight with the mother as a negative anima figure takes on parental sins suggesting there is a chance for psychological progress between generations Blank's parallel iterations of her Marsha and Matty in exotic scenes other lives ensures their entwined karma unresolved psychic material gets re-examined Overall this entertaining and ambitious text affirms that there can be no personal evolution without creatively engaging unconscious elements in the present in childhood and through multiple incarnations Human Nature and Its Remaking William Ernest Hocking, 1923
