Networks of Power in Palestine Harel Chorev-Halewa, 2019-02-28 Informal networks are an elusive and hidden factor in every society In the Middle East the Arab Spring recently highlighted their power and scope from Iraq to Morocco exposing how family and clan networks wield influence behind institutional facades While many studies of Middle Eastern societies solely analyse formal structures and official governing bodies this book illuminates longstanding informal social systems by examining the sociopolitical history of the Palestinian highlands known from 1950 as the West Bank By studying family based networks in cities like Jerusalem Nablus and Hebron Harel Chorev-Halewa shows how their influence has receded more slowly and less dramatically in recent generations than is commonly believed He also connects individual elite families to the broader landscape of informal networks comprising inter familial alliances collective economic systems Sufi orders and customary law all of which make up the unseen familial order Unfolding chronologically this book spans a period of immense change from the Late Ottoman period to the present day asking How did Palestinian informal networks adapt to new realities Why and how did they endure And what does this say about modern Palestinian national politics in particular and Arab societies in general Offering an original and innovative look at informal networks in Palestine this study is of crucial importance to scholars of Middle East studies Palestine studies political science and anthropology

Barriers to Democracy Amaney A. Jamal, 2009-07-26 Democracy building efforts from the early 1990s on have funneled billions of dollars into nongovernmental organizations across the developing world with the U S administration of George W Bush leading the charge since 2001 But are many such civil society initiatives fatally flawed Focusing on the Palestinian West Bank and the Arab world Barriers to Democracy mounts a powerful challenge to the core tenet of civil society initiatives namely that public participation in private associations necessarily yields the sort of civic engagement that in turn sustains effective democratic institutions Such assertions tend to rely on evidence from states that are democratic to begin with Here Amaney Jamal investigates the role of civic associations in promoting democratic attitudes and behavioral patterns in contexts that are less than democratic Jamal argues that in state centralized environments associations can just as easily promote civic qualities vital to authoritarian citizenship such as support for the regime in power Thus any assessment of the influence of associational life on civic life must take into account political contexts including the relationships among associations their leaders and political institutions Barriers to Democracy both builds on and critiques the multifaceted literature that has emerged since the mid 1990s on associational life and civil society By critically examining associational life in the West Bank during the height of the Oslo Peace Process 1993 99 and extending her findings to Morocco Egypt and Jordan Jamal provides vital new insights into a timely issue

The Rise and Fall of Human Rights Lori Allen, 2013-04-24 The Rise and Fall of Human Rights provides a groundbreaking ethnographic investigation of the Palestinian human rights world its NGOs activists and victims as well as their politics training and discourse since 1979 Though human rights activity began as a means of struggle against the Israeli occupation in failing to end the Israeli occupation protect basic human rights or establish an accountable Palestinian government the human rights industry has become the object of cynicism for many Palestinians But far from indicating apathy such cynicism generates a productive critique of domestic politics and Western interventionism This book illuminates the successes and failures of Palestinians varied engagements with human rights in their quest for independence Sharaf Politics Sharon D. Lang, 2013-10-18 This book examines the Arabic conflict resolution method known as sulha In this process notable male elders mediate conflicts between and within Arab communities A lengthy process of political jockeying culminates in a ceremony that peaks when enemies shake hands and publicly forgive the crimes of the other The reality of actual sulha deviates considerably from the ideal but both the official framework and the actual events point to a deep seated valorization of peace and reconciliation in Israeli Palestinian society

Palestinian Politics after the Oslo Accords

Nathan Brown, 2003-11-03 This timely and critically important work does what hostilities in the Middle East have made nearly impossible it offers a measured internal perspective on Palestinian politics viewing emerging political patterns from the Palestinian point of view rather than through the prism of the Arab Israeli conflict Based on groundbreaking fieldwork interviews with Palestinian leaders and an extensive survey of Arabic language writings and documents Palestinian Politics after the Oslo Accords presents the meaning of state building and self reliance as Palestinians themselves have understood them in the years between 1993 and 2002 Nathan J Brown focuses his work on five areas legal development constitution drafting the Palestinian Legislative Council civil society and the effort to write a new curriculum His book shows how Palestinians have understood efforts at building institutions as acts of resumption rather than creation with activists and leaders seeing themselves as recovering from an interrupted past Palestinians seeking to rejoin the Arab world by building their new institutions on Arab models and many Palestinian reformers taking the Oslo Accords as an occasion to resume normal political life Providing a clear and urgently needed vantage point on most of the issues of Palestinian reform and governance that have emerged in recent policy debates issues such as corruption constitutionalism democracy and rule of law Brown s book helps to put Palestinian aspirations and accomplishments in their proper context within a long and complex history and within the larger Arab world

Political Economy of Palestine

Alaa Tartir, Tariq Dana, Timothy Seidel, 2021-05-18 This book explores the political economy of Palestine through critical interdisciplinary and decolonial perspectives underscoring that an approach to economics that does not consider the political a de politicized economics is inadequate to understanding the situation in occupied Palestine A critical interdisciplinary approach to political economy challenges prevailing neoliberal logics and structures that reproduce racial capitalism and explores how the political economy of occupied Palestine is shaped by processes of accumulation by exploitation and dispossession from both Israel and global business as well as from Palestinian elites A decolonial approach to Palestinian political economy foregrounds struggles against neoliberal and settler colonial policies and institutions and aids in the de fragmentation of Palestinian life land and political economy that the Oslo Accords perpetuated but whose histories of de development over all of Palestine can be traced back for over a century The chapters in this book offer an in depth contextualization of the Palestinian political economy analyze the political economy of integration fragmentation and inequality and explore and problematize multiple sectors and themes of political economy in the absence of sovereignty Palestinian NGOs in Israel Shany Payes, 2005-01-28

One in every six Israeli citizens is a Palestinian Arab. While much has been written about the Palestinians of the West Bank and Gaza, the struggle for political rights by Palestinian citizens of Israel remains largely unexplored. Shany Payes offers a fresh look at this struggle through analysis of the increasingly growing sector of Palestinian non-governmental organisations. Charting the political history of these associations over the last quarter of a century and running right up to developments during the recent Intifada, she analyses the political repression of Palestinian civil society by the Israeli state and attempts by Palestinian NGOs in Israel to build a civil society in the face of such oppression. Palestinian NGOs is required reading for all those interested in the Israel-Palestine conflict, minority rights and civil society. A lively and original contribution to a field in which there is already much interest, but where few works of any substance have been produced. I enjoyed the work immensely and would certainly recommend it warmly both to students and to those with a lively interest in things Palestinian. Philip Robins, St Antony's College, Oxford. Provides a fresh insight into political repression of Palestinian civil society by the Israeli state and attempts by Palestinian NGOs to build a civil society in the face of such oppression. The result is a unique piece of work which other academics would be hard pressed to emulate. Gerard Clarke, Centre for Development Studies, University of Wales Swansea.

Arab-Palestinian Society in the Israeli Political System Rami Zeedan, 2019. The Arab Palestinian community, which constitutes 20 percent of Israel's population, is an ethnic minority living mainly in ethnically homogeneous cities and villages. Arab-Palestinian Society in the Israeli Political System offers a comprehensive, detailed examination of Arab Palestinian citizens of Israel within the Green Line in the twenty-first century. Rami Zeedan analyzes political trends, leadership, and the effects on Arab Palestinian identity in Israel of recent changes, especially the 2015 legislative elections. The author also sheds light on the crisis and identifies the sources and relations to the local political structure in Arab localities in Israel. The book discusses the implications of the integration of an ethnic minority in an ethnic state and on the definition of Israel as Jewish and Democratic.

Palestinian Society, Politics, and Economy Karam Dana, 2003

Hamas in Politics Jeroen Gunning, 2023-11-27. In January 2006, Hamas, an organisation classified by Western governments as a terrorist, was democratically elected to govern the Palestinian territories. The inherent contradictions in this situation have left many analysts at a loss. Hamas uses terror tactics against Israel yet runs on a law and order ticket in Palestinian elections; it pursues an Islamic state yet holds internal elections; it campaigns for Shariah law yet its leaders are predominantly secular professionals; it calls for the destruction of Israel yet has reluctantly agreed to honour previous peace agreements. In Hamas in Politics, Jeroen Gunning challenges the assumption that religion, violence, and democracy are inherently incompatible and shows how many of these apparent contradictions flow from the interaction between Hamas ideology, its local constituency, and the nature of politics in Israel-Palestine. Drawing on interviews with members of Hamas and its critics and a decade of close observation of the group, he offers a penetrating analysis of Hamas' own understanding of its ideology and, in particular, the tension between its dual commitment to God and the people The book explores what Hamas political practice says about its attitude towards democracy religion and violence providing a unique examination of the movement s internal organisation how its leaders are selected and how decisions are made Palestinian Civil Society Benoit Challand, 2008-12-02 Palestinian Civil Society examines the development of civil society in the Arab Middle East and the impact of western donors with particular reference to the Palestinian case Looking at the evolution of Palestinian civil society organizations from sociological historical legal and institutional perspectives the book sheds light on the involvement of donors in Palestine and the effect that aid has had on Palestinian civil society at a social political and ideological level Drawing on Arabic texts political theory and a detailed survey of donors and local organizations this book challenges culturalist views that there cannot be a vibrant civil society in the Arab world and examines the issues of depoliticization of civil society the rise of the Islamist sector and the gradual defeat of the left in the Occupied Territories The author looks at how the interaction between donors and NGOs is not only centred on a western model of civil society but also evolves around institutional mechanisms and disciplinary discourses affecting the ability of local NGOs to adapt to the institutional requirements set by international donors Accessible to non specialists this book will be of interest to students and scholars of sociology Middle Eastern studies and development studies
